PRODUCT CARE

An extreme and rapid change in temperature and humidity affects all cast stone adversely. To avoid your Gorse Lodge product getting damaged:

- Do not allow water to collect and freeze in bowls
- Do not allow water to collect and freeze in planters or birdbaths
- Do not allow statues or pedestals or any product to sit in a pool of ice

If Gorse Lodge's cast stone products are left exposed to winter conditions they may shale and crack due to mechanical forces of water. If indoor storage is not possible during cold weather, you must protect it from ice collection and exposure.

HYDROPHOBICITY

Waterproofing makes the stone water resistant. Stones which are continuously in contact with water (such as our wells and stone bowls) should be coated with according materials. The hydrophobic material covers the inner pores and capillary surface which makes it waterproof. Even so, the pores and capillars aren't closed, which still enables the breathability. You can find this hydrophobic material in DIY warehouses.

PRODUCT FINISH

Our statues are handmade of premium cast stone and are finished with penetrating stains. Often colour and shade of antique finish can vary depending on batch colour of natural stone being used at manufacturing stage.

The pictures of the products may seem lighter or darker than product is. The pictures are merely a representation of the finished product. Gorse Lodge Garden Ornaments will strive to ensure products are finished to the highest standard.

Using euro-pallets create a stage for your Gorse Lodge products. Stage size can be adjusted to the size of area available in-store.

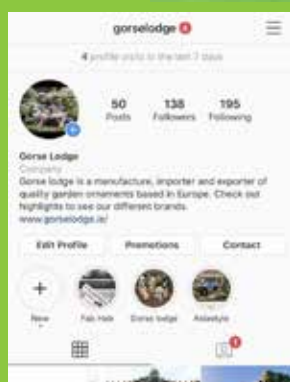

Bamboo panels are available from Gorse Lodge, but other garden panels such as standard fence panels can also be used.

Use plywood to cover the pallets. This will stop bark or gravel falling through the pallets and will add stability to taller items.

Decorative bark, gravel or artificial grass can be used to cover plywood.
