

Our Charcoal is made from thick forests in the inter-land of Africa.

We pride our source from replaceable tree management, and we can guarantee its reliability as fuel that is non sparkling, lights quickly, burns consistently and lasts so long. Its durable mechanism is derived from its hard nature and good, high quality processing. The production is consistently well sorted and packed here at our Sussex warehouse without dirt, dust and pebbles. The moisture content is very low, and it produces minimal ashes.

We receive containers all year round and as such have large inventory of our variety to ensure that we can meet our customers' demands. We offer a personalised service to meet each customer's specific needs and ensure a consistency in efficiency, quality and exceptional customer service.

A.F.M ethos and philosophy is ensuring that we plug the gaps in the market, whilst ensuring we meet all customer needs - whether it be a garden barbecue or a big supermarket chain and we have a hands-on approach in all we do.

The sizes of our charcoal are customised to ensure that you avoid the overwhelming challenge of not having consistent burning and the annoying escape of tiny bits of charcoal through the grill.
