We sow, grow and harvest energy crops on our farm in Cambridgeshire which are then fed into anaerobic digesters. This process generates gas and electricity which supplies the national grid with green energy.

We then transform the by-product into Natura Grow Pellets and Liquid Fertilisers on site, which in turn reduces our carbon footprint.

Every keen gardener understands the value of earthworms, and Natura Grow pellets work in a similar way. Our unique Bio-Active Pellets rehydrate and expand in the soil improving structure, aiding plant root systems development and access to moisture and nutrients.

We grow, harvest and process energy crops on our Cambridgeshire farm to make Natura Grow.
