About us

UK Bamboo Supplies Ltd are a leading UK supplier of bamboo fencing, bamboo poles, and bamboo plyboard.

Founded in 2004, we have been supplying the nation with bamboo for almost two decades and offer the widest range of bamboo poles available on the UK market.

The versatility of bamboo always means there is a new project on the horizon, which is why this material is such a joy to work with. In 2021, our products were featured on the ITV show Love Your Garden with Alan Titchmarsh, and also made an appearance at COP26 as part of a sustainable housing exhibition.

From architects to events professionals, from landscapers to keen gardeners, we are proud to work with a range of industries. Our trusted network of global supply partners combined with our logistical know-how means we can grow and flex alongside demand - from supplying a few pallets of fence panels to several thousand poles.

The benefits of bamboo

More than just a giant grass, bamboo provides a sustainable alternative to traditional soft and hardwoods. Its lightning fast growth and rapid biomass generation is unrivalled by any natural lumber material. Careful selection and harvesting of mature poles means the mother plant remains intact and the vast amount of carbon sequestered in the expansive rhizomatic root system is not released. This is a practice of industry working with nature, instead of against it.

In research published by INBAR (The International Bamboo & Rattan Organisation), the independent intergovernmental organisation concluded that "almost all industrial bamboo products are CO2 negative" (p34, INBAR Technical Report #35).

People are increasingly waking up to bamboo's eco-credentials, and in an age where people are environmentally-conscious, now is bamboo's time to shine.
