GORSE LODGE

IMAGINED, DESIGNED & CRAFTED FOR YOUR GARDEN

About us

We bring decorative art outside

The garden, whether small or large, lush green or minimalist and modern, is a place where we can relax after long, busy days. It helps us to relax, recharge our batteries and find new energy with friends and family, in a peaceful setting.

That is why we, Vidroflor, are an innovative partner of the specialist trade for garden decoration. Since 1994 we have been developing products with passion, dedication and work that make this precious place even more beautiful.

Be inspired by our wide range: from classic to unusual or modern design, made of weatherproof cast stone, metal and wood.

We work exclusively with natural materials such as stone, concrete, metal and wood. Our products are as such durable. They are frost-proof.

Exclusive products

Picture on the doorstep, pots filled with colorful flowers, house elves, funny trolls and forest dwellers or fairies playing in a magical corner of your garden. Whether cheerful or mystical dragons or rather nostalgic and romantic angels that enchant your garden... all this can be found at Vidroflor. Every year we are demonstrating new creative and unique ideas.

Of course, our products are not only a real eye-catcher in the garden - many of them perfectly complement the furnishings of your house or apartment and also give the environment a little magic.

Each of our products is a small - or sometimes slightly larger - work of art that has been perfected down to the smallest detail.

In the early years, Vidroflor sculptures were based on traditional, historical models. Over time, a style of its own developed, which has become more and more modern, especially in recent years. Vidroflor is known today for unique and original, copyrighted designs created by various artists from all over Europe.

The right care for stone casting products

Our artists produce originals in many hours from different materials (this can be, for example, wood, clay or stone). With the help of this original, a form is created and many more sculptures can be created that way. Nevertheless, the entire process remains manual work. Especially the application of the patina, i.e. the treatment of the final surface, requires a lot of skill to make the figure look as unique as you are used to from our products.

If you like this patina, we recommend a site protected from moisture and mechanical stress. If your item is left exposed to the elements it will change and adapt to its environment.

The sculptures are, even with a stressed surface, frost-proof down to -20°C. During the frost period, you should make sure that the figure does not stand in the water, but e.g. on a gravel bed. In addition, stagnant water should be removed from depressions.

Origin

1

Fresh concrete is mixed several times a day to guarantee the best mixing ratio for each article.

2

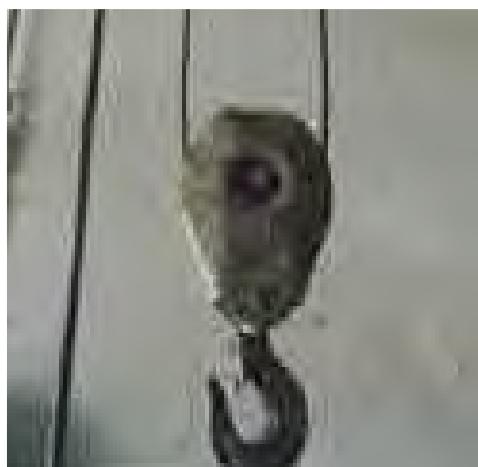

Special filling techniques prevent the inclusion of air holes. Thus, no cavities can arise and a penetration of water into the figure is not possible. This guarantees the frost resistance of the figures.

3

Depending on the weather, the filled moulds are now either placed in a special drying room or dried in the fresh air.

4

For large figures, heavy equipment is sometimes used. Many large sculptures cannot be moved by hand.

5

The sculptures must now cure in the mold for at least 24-48 hours.

6

Carefully, so as not to damage the still unstable forms, the figures are detached from the mold.

4

Origin

5

The final patina is now applied and the product is ready for packaging after another drying time.

7

In order for the figures to harden completely, they must dry in the fresh air for at least four weeks.

In a further step, even the smallest inaccuracies are corrected, and the figure is prepared for the next work step.

8

Before the sculptures acquire their typical color, the seams of the mold are sanded and major inaccuracies are eliminated.

The first coat of paint is now applied, and the item must dry again for several hours.

The applied patina allows the transition to the natural patina formation by nature. Since it is a natural product, the surface reacts with its environment. The patina can come loose, and over time a new, natural patina forms. This does not represent a defect in the product, but is a natural reaction. The figure itself does not suffer any damage and is still frost-proof.

Due to the different weather conditions during production, limescale precipitation in the material cannot always be completely avoided. The occurrence of hairline cracks is also a normal process with the very smooth surface of the workpieces, which does not reduce the quality in any way. The fine mortar layer on the surface can crack due to temperature fluctuations. Since this occurs only superficially, no water can penetrate into the workpiece, and frost resistance is also guaranteed here.

Origin

Each figure receives a protective cover and its own label.

For all larger and particularly filigree articles, a wooden frame is now built to protect them in the best possible way.

Each item needs a different wooden frame. This requires a variety of different woods in a wide variety of sizes.

Ready for transport, each item is checked again and shipped only after passing the inspection.

For the articles that do not require a wooden frame, a suitable cardboard box is produced.

The sculptures are now ready for shipping and waiting for a place in the garden.

The Little Prince

„Here's my secret. It's very simple: you can only see well with your heart. The essential is invisible to the eyes.“

Antoine de Saint-Exupéry

Who does not know this famous saying of the Little Prince. This and many pieces of wisdom from the story of the Little Prince show us how precious life is and that we should enjoy it.

In 2021, The Little Prince turned 75!
In keeping with this occasion, we have created the little prince and his fox out of cast stone!

Be curious to see what other characters from the famous book by Antoine de Saint-Exupéry there will be!

Icarus

Icarus and Daedalus were imprisoned by King Minos in the labyrinth of the Minotaur in Crete. Since Minos controlled seafaring and land, Daedalus invented wings for himself and his son. To do this, he attached feathers with wax to a pole. Before take-off, he instructed Icarus not to fly too high and not too low, otherwise the heat of the sun or the humidity of the sea would lead to a crash. At first everything went well, but after passing Samos and Delos on the left and Lebinthos on the right, Icarus became cocky and climbed so high that the sun melted the wax of his wings, whereupon the feathers came loose and he fell into the sea. The desperate Daedalus named the island where he had buried his son Ikaria in memory of his child. The figure of Icarus has repeatedly become the inspiration and subject of artistic, scientific and technical creations in European culture.

This angel is known as the „Lady of the Skies“. She is one of the great angels of humor and self-confidence. It is responsible for the moderation and ease with which we can bear all negative events in our lives in such a way that they do not crush us. Rachel makes sure that men and women don't look at things with too much melancholy and seriousness.

Shekinah

Item-no.: 8086
B: 80cm, H: 137cm, M: 100kg

Shekinah is the female angel of liberation and peace. It makes people be just and fair. Some believe that she embodies the feminine part of creation, the feminine aspect of the Creator. It has a particularly healing effect on body, mind and soul. It liberates the world through all epochs. She is very close to humanity and is always especially connected to those who are righteous.

Flower Fairies

Our charming cast stone flower fairies™ are licensed replicas of the original drawings from Cicely Mary Barker's numerous books. Each of her drawings illustrates a poem about a flower or plant from the forest and meadow. Today, the original Flower Fairies™ are more famous than ever before and the charm of the flower children has delighted young and old for generations. Our Flower Fairy™ cast stone figures bring the book illustrations in your garden to life.

Garden art with feeling

Our sculptures from the new series Garden Art were inspired by music, more precisely by three famous ballet dancers. The sculptures are like a piece of music, flowing and harmonious. „If part of the shape were wrong, it would be like a wrong note,“ says Fiona Jane Scott, the designer. „I love the idea of dancers giving shape to music.“

Metal

Metal objects made by master craftsmen

First man formed stone, then, for about six millennia, he has mastered the shaping of metal.

Thus he became - figuratively speaking - the blacksmith of his own fortune. In addition to its useful function (tools, weapons), metal has always had a decorative function.

Vidroflor's design solutions deliberately use above all that element that actually stands for practical use like no other: iron.

The decorative elements of Vidroflor for home and garden rely primarily on steel and steel sheets, in which the corrosion process was deliberately brought about, or is achieved by a special surface treatment, so the products get their individual stainless rust look.

Since each item is processed by hand, the rust look can vary between the individual products again and again. If, for example due to transport, scratches or peeling of the surface occur, the articles can simply remain in the garden and after a few days new rust forms in the places.

Rust ensures that the products do not look cold and repellent, but are perceived as part of the organic environment.

Our metal products are also made by hand and thus receive their individual touch.
