häago[™] unwind

our tableware collection is crafted from 100% natural and biodegradable resources, including palm leaf, sugarcane and pla crafted from cornstarch, making our ranges sustainable and eco-friendly options for any occasion. the use of renewable materials ensures that our products have a minimal impact on the environment. our commitment to using natural materials ensures that our tableware is not only beautiful but also kind to the planet.

introducing sugarcane

sugarcane is a tall, perennial grass cultivated in many parts of the world where it's mostly grown for the production of sugar. our sugarcane range is a by-product of this process; the leftover material creates a pulp called bagasse, which is then heat formed into various shapes.

there are many eco benefits; sugarcane is biodegradable, compostable, sustainable, renewable and chemical free. the tableware is extremely versatile as it is microwave, oven and freezer safe, and suitable for a variety of foods including hot, cold, wet, or dry dishes.

disposing of sugarcane couldn't be easier! if you've got a compost bin or pile at home, you can simply add the used sugarcane plates to it. they'll break down naturally over time, usually within a few months, depending on factors like temperature and moisture levels. make sure to break or cut the plates into smaller pieces to speed up the decomposition process. alternatively, pop them in your garden bin for collection.

introducing palm leaf fallen leaves from the areca palm tree are used to create our palm leaf tableware, which grows naturally in abundance in hilly areas of the tropical pacific.

there are many eco benefits; palm leaf is biodegradable, compostable, sustainable, renewable and chemical free. the tableware is extremely versatile as it is microwave, oven and freezer safe, and suitable for a variety of foods including hot, cold, wet, or dry dishes.

disposing of palm leaf couldn't be easier! if you've got a compost bin or pile at home, you can simply add the used plates to it. they'll break down naturally over time, usually within a few months, depending on factors like temperature and moisture levels. make sure to break or cut the plates into smaller pieces to speed up the decomposition process. alternatively, pop them in your garden bin for collection.

pla, or polylactic acid, is a biodegradable and bio-based thermoplastic polymer derived from renewable resources like corn starch, cassava, or sugarcane. it's produced by fermenting plant sugars to produce lactic acid. the resulting material can be processed and shaped using methods similar to those used for traditional plastics, such as injection moulding.

alongside the eco benefits (biodegradable, sustainable and with a low carbon footprint) pla cutlery is extremely versatile and suitable for a variety of foods including hot, cold, wet, or dry dishes.

if you have a home compost bin or pile, you can add your pla cutlery to it. however, keep in mind that pla may take longer to break down than other organic materials due to its higher melting point and crystalline structure. alternatively, place it in your recycling bin for collection by your local authority.
