Welcome to the most intimate revolution

Cocoro® is a collection of period panties that has revolutionized the way thousands of women experience menstruation. The design incorporates built-in tech fabrics that absorb blood, vaginal discharge and light urine losses. They are washable and therefore reusable, a healthy and ecological alternative to conventional hygiene products (which are as uncomfortable as they are harmful to the environment).

Turn the page and you will discover Cocoro's proposals, designed to contribute to the well-being of all women and the planet, and to shattering the taboo of menstruation. Give yourself the pleasure of feeling free and comfortable with your body all day, every day.

YOUNG

YOUNG is the Cocoro collection designed for youngsters and teenagers: intense, fun, bold, full of life and color. Bright colors, on the waistband and even on the hem in some models, take center stage.

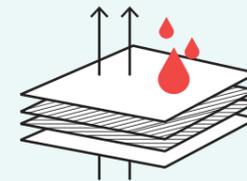

Cocoro® panties are:

- Absorbent.
- Odourless.
- Pretty and comfortable.
- Breathable and anti-allergic.
- Reusable and ecological.

A healthier, greener and more comfortable alternative to the use of sanitary towels and panty-liners, both by day and night. In case of very heavy flow, they provide extra protection when combined with menstrual cups or tampons.

This is how they work:

They come with their own multifunctional super thin layer of fabric (1.5 mm) that absorbs and retains the flow inside (the fabric in contact with the vulva is made of cotton). The liquid evaporates with body heat, so the panties do not swell. You can wear them up to 24 hours and wash them in the washing machine (below 30 °C, without softener).

FEMINISM, TECHNOLOGY, SUSTAINABILITY

Cocoro® is a tech-underwear brand that designs and produces its products in Barcelona. Behind the brand is a team of people committed to women's well-being, the use of technology for their comfort and the protection of the environment.

FEMINIST COMMITMENT

We work to normalize menstruation; we get involved in projects that favour gender equality and fight against the social exclusion of women.

TECHNOLOGICAL COMMITMENT

Our R&D team seeks out innovative technical fabrics and optimal combinations to create products that help improve women's daily life. We are part of the Femtech movement, a set of technological start-ups focused on women's health.

ENVIRONMENTAL COMMITMENT

We develop products with certified fabrics (Oeko-Tex, GOTS and Bluesign) and offer alternatives to single-use waste. Cocoro® panties can reduce 5.6 to 6.4 kilos of non-recyclable waste per woman per year.

Cocoro® has been recognized in Catalonia, Spain and Europe for its quality and innovation.
