

Matthew O'Brien

One sheet: Ready to wear, women's Matthew O'Brien's ready to wear offering for women is vast; with garments for daytime and evening, relaxed and formal, professional and celebratory. He is the go-to trusted source for anyone who wants to wear something special, and be noticed for all the right reasons, when they don't have the lead time for bespoke.

Clients of all ages come to me for off-the-peg solutions for everything from dinners to races, balls to proms, awards ceremonies to christenings, and work wear - I create beautiful separates, blouses and trousers, there's so much more than stunning dresses. Most often you'll find me on the shop floor, speaking to customers and listening to what they want, what they like; and because we have a sewing room on the top of our flagship store it's easy for me to respond to this. The fashion retail landscape is evolving at pace, so being able to respond to what people are looking for in a timely way, not necessarily being bound by traditional seasons, is essential for success and a point of difference for me.

- Matthew O'Brien.

Complimentary alterations can be made on all ready to wear items, in-store, for a personalised fit.
