About Us

We are a group of individuals passionate about the way color and innovative materials can connect with the senses. We incorporate this passion into the design of our high-performance backpacks, bags, and accessories, which are made from recycled plastic bottles, and are both functional and stylish.

At Lefrik, we firmly believe that sustainable fashion is achievable.

Oxford Collection

Our line of everyday backpacks made in our iconic Oxford material is specially designed for city commuting and weekend wanderings.

Lefrik's OXFORD RPET fabric is durable, vegan, waterproof and washable.

It's made of GRS certified 100% recycled polyester, we avoid using blends in our fabrics making the products not only recycled but more recyclable at the end of their life cycle.

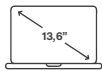

Most of the backpacks in this collection come with padded laptop compartments, inner water bottle pocket, useful interior organisers and antitheft back pockets to keep your belongings safe and handy. Fastening on all models is strong and secure, ideal to prevent break-ins and unwanted openings.

COLLABORATIONS

María Ramírez

María Ramírez (1990, Albacete), is a pattern designer, photographer and artistic director living in Madrid. With a BFA from the Complutense University of Madrid, currently combines her professional career with her textile brand mariaramirez. She has shown her work, given lectures and specialised workshops for different institutions such as the Complutense University of Madrid, Instituto Europeo di Design, Barreira School of Design (Valencia), Cervantes Institute (Stockholm), La Casa Encendida (Madrid)

She centers her artistic interests in art direction, textile and pattern design, making all her work with manual techniques.

Amelia García

Amelia García, in her own words, “shapes your ideas creating unique objects that last over time”.

She is passionate about analog processes and traditional techniques, passed down on her by her father, a pinhole photographer. She studied photography, but later she found in paper and in photobooks the ideal way of showing her work. That led her to co-found Paisana Books (2016-2019), an independent art book publisher and distributor with which she was able to publish some books and participate in different art book fairs.

She currently works in bookbinding and marbling, developing her own projects, as well as teaching workshops in different spaces.

Vandra Series

Our Vandra line is designed with the urban wearer in mind, who is looking for practicality in everyday life, without neglecting a unique style with attention to detail. In this collection you can find some of the classic models available with a more elevated touch in details such as handles, closures and finishes.

All models are made with Ripstop technical fabric, which is very light, water and scratch resistant. Its unique texture gives the backpacks a premium and distinctive finish.
