RSPO certified Palm Oil

What is palm oil?

The world's most used oil, palm, is found in many food, household and cosmetic items. Vegetable oil derived from the fruit of the oil palm tree is produced either by squeezing the fleshy fruit or crushing kernels. Indonesia & Malaysia are where you'll find the majority (85%) of palm oil plantations.

Why is it so controversial?

A highly debated subject with much media attention in recent years, palm oil production has been linked to deforestation - destroying biodiverse habitats of endangered species, exploiting native communities, and ultimately climate change.

Why not boycott palm oil?

Simply boycotting palm is not the answer, as switching to alternatives would mean much more significant impact on the environment (requiring up to 10 x more land for crops such as soy). In addition, this would also harm the emerging economies and smallholder farmers, who depend on palm oil for their livelihood.

What is RSPO?

The Roundtable on Sustainable Palm Oil (RSPO), formed in 2004, sets best practices for palm oil production and sourcing standards throughout the supply chain. We are a proud RSPO member and fully support their efforts to promote the use of sustainably sourced palm oil. Check out our progress at www.rspo.org.

Segregated palm oil?

The palm oil used in the Ministry of Soap is traceable from only two locations, the Solomon Islands and Papua New Guinea. Our supplier works with smallholder farmers to sustainably improve their palm oil yield whilst supporting with employment, housing, education, and medical facilities via the NBPOL foundation.
