Colour blocking wide bottom tote bag

The leather surface of this bag is very characteristic, emphasizing the graininess of the first layer of cowhide and the tough and moldable leather qualities. The front and back of the two layers of blue leather are directly attached together through the stitching, like a flat paper bag. At the bottom of the bag, the clashing leather is inserted into. Looking from the side, a triangular color block is cut into the bottom of the bag, shaping into a narrow top and wide bottom style, awash with fun. The mouth of the bag is fixed by button-shaped buckle loops, and the front of the bag is decorated with rectangular regular stitching and fine leather knots braided out of the belt. With the style in the retro charm showing the modern sense of shape and clashing colors, it is a chic tote bag.
