Art for Hotels and Rental Properties

The guest experience is a critical factor in the hospitality industry. Hotels and rental properties work hard to position themselves in a competitive marketplace in the hopes of attracting guests who will appreciate the standout features that make their property unique. Hospitality art can serve as an important extension of branding strategies by helping hotels and rental properties convey their values in a subtle but effective way.

Strategically placed art that draws the eye and captures the attention of guests can work wonders when it comes to expressing your values and supplementing the overall aesthetic of the property. Examples of high-visibility areas where hospitality art can have an understated but lasting impact include:

- Lobbies and Reception areas
- Hallways and near Elevators
- Guest rooms and Washrooms
- Dining Facilities, Hotel Bars, and Lounges

Every wall in your hotel or rental property gives you a new opportunity to cultivate your image, and our highly capable team of in-house artists is standing by to help you find just the right way to communicate your message.

We've created custom artwork for some of the world's most exclusive, glamorous, and beautiful hotels, and the broad-ranging skill sets of our immensely talented in-house production team means that we can make a piece that's perfect for your property, no matter what style you're after. From elegant, classically inspired pieces to bold, abstract contemporary designs that make a statement, we can do it all.

Metal Frame Assembly Instructions

1. Prepare your art.
Attach art to mat board and place on backing board. Peel and stack acrylic on top of mat, set aside.
Note: Mitered corners can be sharp. Handle with care.

2. Choose the bottom.
Start with frame section that will be the bottom of your frame and place face down, channel side up. Place two angled plates, one with screws and one without, together in the hardware track at each end. Screw heads should face outward. Gently tighten.

3. Attach the sides.
Attach the sides by sliding the back channel into the angled plates and align mitered ends. Gently tighten. Important: Do NOT fully tighten any screws until step 6 when frame is fully assembled.

4. Insert materials.
Turn frame face up. Slide the materials to be framed into the frame rabbet.

5. Add the top.
Insert corner plates into the remaining frame section and attach to sides. Gently tighten.

6. Tighten the frame.
Readjust the corners as necessary, and tighten all the screws firmly.

7. Secure your art.
Take the spring clips provided and evenly space them around the back channel of the frame. Flex and insert between the frame edge and the backing board.

8. Add hangers, wire & bumpers.
Position one hanger into each side of the frame as shown and ensure they are in line with each other. Tighten screws. Loop wire between hangers and twist at the ends to secure. Adhere wall protectors to bottom corners.

9. Display and enjoy!

STRONG. Aluminium will not warp, shrink or twist. Perfect for any sized images, humid conditions and commercial applications.

ARCHIVAL. Aluminium is an inert material that does not outgas or contain acids, eliminating the need to seal the rabbet when doing conservation framing.

ALWAYS IN STYLE. Metal is a timeless material. Whether for its retro colors, contemporary minimalist profiles, or traditional brushed finishes.

PLEXIGLASS. Galleries and museums worldwide have embraced plexiglass as a high quality material for exhibition and resale. Why? It protects artwork without distortion or the risk of shattering. Our acrylic plexiglass sheets are acid-free, lightweight, archival quality, and offered in five variations to fit your purpose, budget and style.
