Social and Ethical responsibility

Since pioneering the use of enzyme technology in the dyeing process in the 1980's, Fenland is committed to retaining the values it was once founded upon.

Combining the highest quality sheepskins with modern manufacturing techniques and ethical Global sourcing ensures that Fenland remains a sustainable by-product of the meat industry.

We support eco-friendly practices using eco-tanning, a process which uses 67% less chemicals, 30% less water and all chemicals used are fully recyclable.

We are a member of The Real Sheepskin Association part of Leather UK and our products carry the Sheepskin Woolmark, Australian Sheepskin and Eco-Tan certification.
