For years since our inception our business model has remained the same - to identify high Growth potential business to customer retail clothing businesses and create brands for Our clientele.

Rather than following the traditional method of creating your own brand, we believe in creating Brands fo our clients and aspiring to grow these brands into house hold names. So far Servin Collection has created brand such as Andrè, L&M, Jobbs, Amazing lanka and more. We have Successfully expanded each business from clothing stores, into brands.

Why do we follow this business model? Because we believe brands have the power to change Or revolutionise fashion, not stores. Department stores are high growth businesses due to their Influx of customers everyday due to a wide variety of options, however brands can be grown Globally and be made international household names.

This reach into global expansion and to encourage Sri Lankan businesses to take a leap forward Into the unknown is why we are passionate about what we do. To help build a more forward Moving country and a new generation of bold thinkers.
