organic • sustainable • ethical

For generations, the production of cotton textiles has caused irreparable damage to the environment.

In 2008, Prashant Balar and Kunal Balar fused together their love for nature with textiles acumen to forge a tangible practice- Herbal Fab.

True, it's more than a firm; it's a way of living.

Later Joined by their younger brother Aniket Solanki, whose coming along led them to expand their business from just fabrics to now a GOTS & SEDEX certified sewing factory too with a aim to provide complete sustainable garmenting solution.

There will be nothing left for the generations to come if we are not sustainable in what we do.

A simple rule of being sustainable is to give back to nature what you take from it in the same form; if that is not possible then in a form that is still useful or at least not harmful.

RAW ORGANIC COTTON

The organic cotton we use comes from Madhya Pradesh, Gujarat and the southern region of India. For other fibres which we promote like Linen, Hemp, Lenzing Tencel, Lenzing Modal, Eco Vero, Bemberg etc, we make sure that their source of origin and making process is sustainable.

GARMENT MANUFACTURING

The final step of our sustainable journey from farm to fashion is sewing. Our factory is GOTS certified and SEDEX audited. Visit the "who made your clothes" section to know about our team and "Custom Sewing" section to know our capabilities and offerings.

GINNING-SPINNING

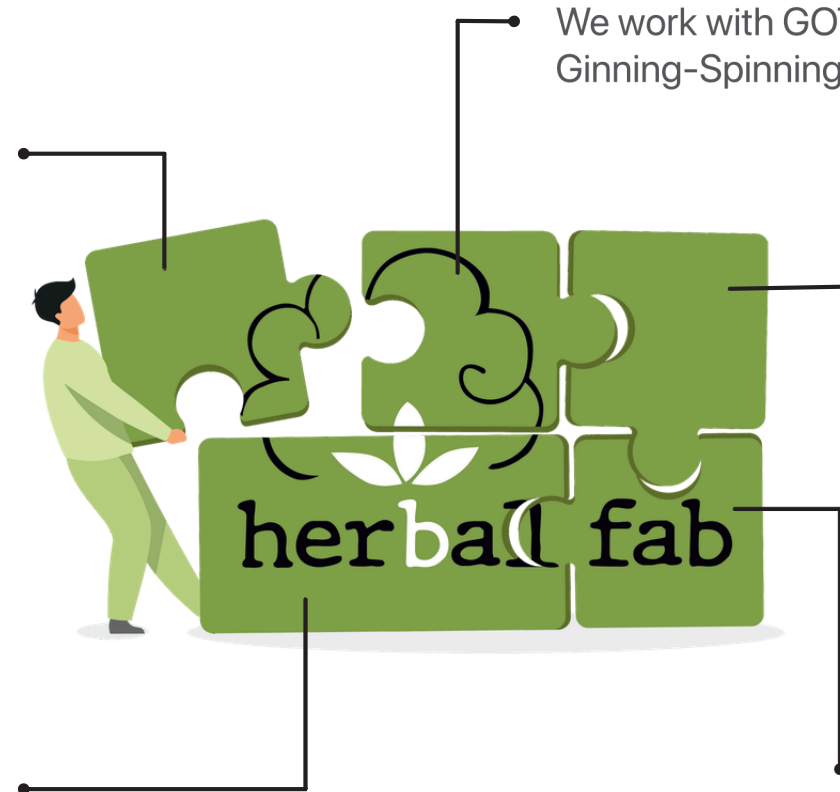

Then the cotton fiber is ginned and spun to produce yarn. We work with GOTS certified Ginning-Spinning set ups for our yarn requirement.

WEAVING/ KNITTING

Next, the yarn is woven/ knitted. We have subcontract unit for weaving certified by GOTS under us. We work with other independent GOTS certified set ups too. We also work with handloom weavers for our small collection of handwoven fabrics.

DYEING/PRINTING

We have subcontracted unit for Fabric Dyeing-Printing, certified by GOTS under us. We Work with other independent GOTS certified set ups too.

Know Your Farmers Project

We, at HerbalFab, offer a unique traceability project that ensures that the textiles are truly organic. Most importantly, this project allows us to know the farmers who are working day and night to produce organic cotton that we all love, and ascertain that they are being paid well.

This is a special project that requires a commitment of at least one year. Be sure to have a detailed discussion with us before proceeding with this project.
