KAUSHALAM-

Hand Painting Studio of artisan made lifestyle products.
A step towards keeping the Indian Art traditions alive

About Us

We are the leading manufacturers of authentic Indian Hand painted products designed in various art forms of India.

Founded and formed in the spring of 2012, Kaushalam is the brainchild of social entrepreneur and artist, Mrinalika (Jain) Bhardwaj. The thought behind the venture is to create a niche in the world of art and craft. The prime theme of Kaushalam is to revive the regional, folk and traditional art and art forms of India which were either on the verge of dying or dying a slow death.

The Products – Kaushalam Artensils

Kaushalam is known for the hand painted kettles and all kind of utensils which we call Artensils. The inspiration behind choosing themes for our products comes from rich Indian heritage, diverse cultures and day-to-day life. The products here are an amalgamation of the past and present. They are pieces of art and history with a twist of modernization and above all every piece is done with utmost care and love, with the artisans putting their heart and soul into it. We specializes in hand painted and handcrafted products for home and garden and the artisans can paint on any kind of artwork and on all kinds of surfaces. Their focus is to bring together the art styles of every state of India. The customization of products as per international client's requirements makes them stand out in the handicraft industry

Buddha: The Nirvana

The moment you will look at this Buddha Statue, it will take you to a different world all together.

The relaxing pose of Buddha is one of the most poignant ones; it depicts the last moments of Gautam Buddha's mortal life before he achieved Nirvana or freedom from the cycle of rebirth. However, it is not meant to induce gloom; in fact, the reclining Buddha is supposed to be an encouragement to people for seeking internal harmony.

Where to put these: This form of Buddha must always face West to represent his imminent death and should recline to the right.
