Beadworx Introduced To Haiti

Lance Durban and Roseann Vitassa share the same life mission: to help impoverished nations with job creation. The chance meeting of these two incredible people in 2015 has created a growing work opportunity for more than seventy-five Haitian artisans, all thanks to Beadworx.

Over the past few years, Haitian artisans have been mastering the street art of bending wire into frames and then weaving strands of glass beads onto those frames, thus creating a whimsical and endearing craft. Roseann first encountered this unique style of street art in South Africa, where it originates. She and her daughter Kristen collaborated with artists in South Africa to develop the Beadworx line. They brought these beautiful pieces to people around the world, just as Extol Accessories continues to do to this day.

Extol Accessories is a family-owned business that has provided jobs to Haitians over the past 30 years. Extol also has offered educational opportunities and even emergency shelter. Helping Haitians earn an income and lift themselves out of poverty has long been a core principle that drives Extol forward. By acquiring the rights to produce Beadworx in December 2017, Extol has created more than 75 jobs and will continue to grow with your support.

This is an exciting time for Beadworx. Extol does more than just make beaded statues though! For years, Extol has been helping Haitian artisans and ateliers access and grow into the wider North American market. This is done in two key ways. Extol offers freight consolidation and forwarding services. More than thirty groups and organizations currently use Extol for all their shipping needs: sending unique and high quality goods from Haiti to anywhere in the world. Extol also offers artisans the opportunity to join the Haiti Handworx booth at AmericasMart, the massive trade show held in Atlanta twice each year. Extol strives forward every day trying to provide jobs and competitive market access to Haiti's driven and talented entrepreneurs, and we are honored and thankful to do business with people all over the world.

A note From The Creator, RoseAnn :

Beadworx is a "grass roots" company dedicated to developing community uplift by creating jobs where they are needed. Our mission is to empower people to help themselves so they may proudly and steadily support their families, educate their children and create a better life. The Beadworx journey started fifteen years ago when we brought an African wire bending craft technique to the rural villages of China. Kristen Depante (the artist) and Judy Liu (our partner in China) worked tirelessly together to assemble a team of people trained to create the special whimsical craft that is Beadworx. Kristen and Judy developed a broad and unique infrastructure that has employed hundreds and hundreds of people. These jobs allowed men and women to bring in the extra money they needed to support their families without having to leave their farms.

Many things have changed in China in recent years, and jobs are abundant now. We're no longer needed there. We still have an extensive retail market though. We are in zoos, aquariums, galleries, resorts, garden centers, home décor stores and just about anywhere you can get a gift or a memory. You may have seen us in places like Disney World, Atlantis, the San Diego Zoo, the Salvador Dalí Museum and so many other national and international locations. We are the only people in the world who design and create Beadworx sculptures, and we are excited to supply the increasing demand for our pieces by moving to Haiti.
