YADAWEE
MORE THAN HANDICRAFTS

Yadawee "Our Story"

Yadawee, meaning "handmade" in Arabic, is a for-profit social enterprise that was established in 2002 by Hisham El Gazzar and Tarek Sheta to support the trades around the world. Yadawee does this by working with local and refugee artisans and craftsmen to produce high-quality handicrafts while ensuring fair trade practices every step of the way.

Fair Trade is Our Foundation

Yadawee has been committed to top-quality handicrafts and supporting the lives of artisans and craftsmen since day one.

To support the standard of living for artisans and craftsmen, as well as help them grow in their own skill areas, Yadawee follows the 10 principles of fair trade established by the World Fair Trade Organization (WFTO). These include:

- Opportunities for disadvantaged producers
- Transparency and accountability
- Fairtrade practices
- Fair payment
- No child labor, no forced labor
- No discrimination; gender equity; freedom of association
- Good working conditions
- Capacity building
- Promotion of fair trade
- Respect for the environment

WORLD FAIR TRADE ORGANIZATION

FAIR TRADE

Yadawee artisans and craftsmen are also encouraged to continue refining their skillsets through Yadawee-hosted training courses covering design, fair trade, price calculations, and quality control.

Because Yadawee supports fair trades and its practices, we work directly with in-country community organizations to provide economic empowerment to artisans and craftsmen in remote areas and disadvantaged groups of the community.
In addition to fair trade, Yadawee is passionate about inclusion of refugees in the global value chain.

In 2017, Yadawee took over management of The NilFurat Project, which, overseen by UNHCR, is a safe space for learning, expressing, experimenting, and production created for a group of refugee and Egyptian women who bring together their cultural diversity and stories to make high-quality artisan products and generate their own income. At that same time, Yadawee also became a member of MADE51, which is another organization run by UNHCR that promotes economic inclusion of refugees.

EGYPTIAN COTTON

This cotton material has been used for centuries in Egypt to make tents, and it is still a popular choice today. This natural fibre is known for its durability and strength, making it an ideal material for tents. It is also lightweight and breathable, making it comfortable to use in any climate.

In recent years, cotton has become a popular choice for making aprons, tea towels and tote bags. This sturdy material is perfect for these items because it can withstand regular use without losing its shape or colour. Cotton is also easy to clean and maintain, so you can keep your items looking like new for longer.

With the proper care, cotton items can last you a lifetime!

Mansaj Embroidery is a unique form of traditional embroidery found in Upper Egypt. This type of embroidery is characterized by its intricate and colourful designs, which are created using a variety of materials such as silk, cotton, wool, and metal thread. The designs often feature geometric shapes and motifs inspired by nature and the local culture. Mansaj Embroidery has been practised for centuries in Upper Egypt, with many families passing down the craft from generation to generation.

The pieces created by Mansaj Embroidery artisans are truly one-of-a-kind works of art that can be used to decorate clothing or home décor items. They make great gifts for friends and family. If you're looking for something special that will stand out from the crowd, Mansaj Embroidery tote bags are the perfect choice!

BASKETS

Egypt has a long and rich history of palm leaves basketry. For centuries, Egyptians have been using natural fibres to create beautiful and functional home décor items. Palm leaves are one of the most popular materials used in basketry, as they are strong and durable yet lightweight and easy to work with.

The art of palm leaves basketry is believed to have originated in Egypt thousands of years ago. Ancient Egyptians used palm leaves to make baskets for storing food, carrying goods, and even for religious ceremonies. The baskets were often decorated with intricate designs that reflected the culture and beliefs of the time.

Today, palm leaves basketry is still an important part of Egyptian culture. It is used to create a variety of home décor items such as trays, vases, bowls, and more. The use of natural fibres in these items adds a unique touch to any room or space. Not only do they look beautiful, but they are also eco-friendly and sustainable.

At Yadawee, we are proud to offer a wide selection of handcrafted natural fibre baskets that will add a unique touch to any home décor setting. Our baskets are made with traditional techniques that have been passed down through generations for centuries. We believe in using natural materials that are both beautiful and sustainable so you can enjoy your home décor pieces for years to come!

FAIR TRADE

Yadawee is recognized by The World Fair Trade Organization (WFTO) as a Guaranteed Fair Trade Organization. The WFTO Label was the first international label that guaranteed fair trade organizations operating in any part of the supply chain, from producers to retailers. With this label — established in 2016 — consumers can identify products in the international marketplace that meet high economic, social, and environmental sustainability criteria.

The WFTO label is further supported by a robust and credible guarantee system. By guaranteeing the organization as 'Fair Trade,' the label meets consumers' continuously growing needs for a more trustworthy international marketplace.

By purchasing products that carry the WFTO label, traders and consumers can make a concrete contribution to create a more just world, help fight poverty, social injustice, and discrimination, to support economically disadvantaged small producers, and to promote the rights of people and respect for the environment.

The NilFurat Project

The NilFurat Project was established in 2015 by The UN Refugee Agency (UNHCR) and is a space where refugee and Egyptian women are invited to bring their cultural diversity, stories, and skills to make high-quality artisan products and generate their own income. In 2017, Yadawee took over management of The NilFurat project and joined MADE51. The project aims to create a sustainable and safe income to a group of refugee women — the project's goal is to provide a space for interaction, dialogue, and psycho-social support through engaging in production and learning activities, and to establish an area-based project that is local for the women in the program.

NilFurat
نيلفرات

The NilFurat Project has contributed to generating income to a group of 30+ refugee and Egyptian women's households with an additional positive impact on the living conditions of themselves and their families.

MADE 51

MADE51 is brought to life by UNHCR, the un refugee agency, a global organisation dedicated to saving lives, protecting rights and building a better future for refugees, forcibly displaced communities and stateless people.

MADE51 products are not just beautifully crafted. They exude a real essence of humanity. They tell the timely and important story about how refugees can rebuild their futures and, in so doing, act as powerful contributors to the world economy.

Refugees often leave behind their livelihoods when fleeing violence. MADE51 offers refugee artisans a way to earn an income and, in so doing, the opportunity to rebuild their livelihoods and re-establish their independence.

MADE51

CRAFTED BY REFUGEES

UNHCR

The UN Refugee Agency

Since 2017

When refugees flee, they carry with them the traditions, skills, knowledge and craftsmanship. From the leather-work of the Tuareg to the fine embroidery of the Syrians, MADE51 creates a way for refugees to sustain artistic traditions and preserve their culture.

Through MADE51 refugees have a way to harness their artisanal skills and participate in the global economy, which allows them to add value to their host communities and secure their own futures.

Since Yadawee became a member of MADE51 in 2017, the initiative's reach continues to grow in the amount of orders it is seeing, which opens doors to its sustainability. In the coming years, the project plans to start expanding the center and engage with more women to empower them through their knowledge and skill sets.

Yadawee Collaborations:

In 2021 UNIQLO and UNHCR celebrated 10 years of global partnership. In addition to donations, emergency support and refugee employment at UNIQLO stores, UNIQLO is now supporting UNHCR to strengthen refugees' self-reliance through MADE51.

The Yadawee/MADE51 x UNIQLO bracelet is the first co-developed product and was designed through discussions between UNIQLO and MADE51. The bracelets were distributed in 16 countries in Europe, North America, and Asia-Pacific.

South Sudanese refugee women in Egypt, Kenya, Ethiopia and South Sudan crafted the Yadawee/MADE51 X UNIQLO bracelet. Beading is a traditional craft in South Sudan, where patterns and colours carry cultural meanings.

Through Yadawee/MADE51, UNHCR, and UNIQLO have helped these women earn an income and support their families. The colours used in this bracelet symbolize this partnership's commitment to stand #WithRefugees.

Yadawee Collaborations:

Against the backdrop of the Giza Pyramids, luxury fashion house Dior showcased its Pre-Fall 2023 menswear collection on 3 December. In this historical setting, artistic director Kim Jones presented his ‘Celestial’ collection that aims to celebrate his lifelong passion for travel and history.

DIOR

Dior chose Yadawee to produce the basket made from papyrus, bamboo and banana fibres used as a backpack in their new collection. This collaboration marks an important milestone for Yadawee as it is the first time to work with Dior to create a product. The backbag is designed to be both stylish and sustainable, using natural materials that are both durable and environmentally friendly. The bag also features a unique design with intricate details that make it stand out from other bags on the market.

The collaboration between Yadawee and Dior is part of Dior’s 75th-anniversary celebrations, making this backbag even more special. This bag is sure to become an iconic piece of fashion history, representing both sustainability and luxury in one stylish package.

Yadawee Working with Designers

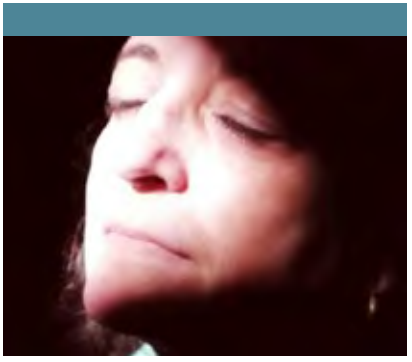
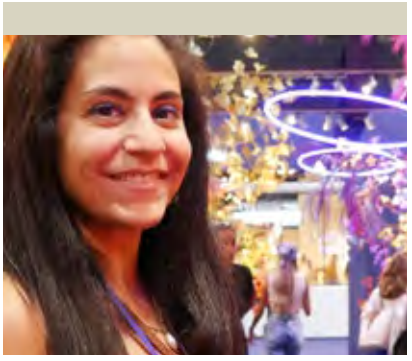
Hana Ibrahim was born and raised in Cairo, Egypt. She graduated from the Faculty of Applied Arts and in 2001, she began her career in the field of advertising as a graphic designer.

Exploring her inner self, she discovered a deep fascination with Egyptian heritage and an obsession with creating visual elements that bring to life the unique and rich native Egyptian heritage while blending it with exotic contemporary art.

Her designs are an exceptional combination of both. it is in this unique blend that the magic lies.



May El Sayed has a continuing fascination with all things related to nature and energy. Over the years, she has embarked on an endless journey of self-discovery and holistic healing. Her passion for nature began as a child, and it expanded during her visit to Germany years ago, where she went on endless walks in the forest and discovered her deep interest in leaves. Combining her love for nature and history, she used ancient hand-printing techniques to create natural leaf patterns on her pieces. With her introduction to holistic studies, colour therapy, and her deep knowledge of human energy, she aims to create pieces that bring joy and balance into people's lives.



Noura Al-Naggar is an Egyptian designer. After receiving her MFA in Graphic Design from California Institute of the Arts in 2012 and working for a couple of years in the field, she decided to pursue her passion for crafts. In 2016, she moved to Cairo to start making bags. A city with a very rich repertoire of traditional crafts, alongside a fast-changing contemporary design culture, Cairo offered a great lure with endless inspiration and possibilities for a designer.

- Colour references: match prints, print proofs, Pantone codes or any print that can serve as a reference
- Yadawee can match in a range from 90% to 100% of the colour reference provided by Yadawee or the client
- On request of the client, Yadawee can adjust and/or modify the data files provided by the client at an additional cost
- On request of the client, Yadawee can produce product samples as colour and (end) product reference before mass production to be approved and paid for by the client

SHIPPING AND DELIVERY

- Shipping costs are calculated based on the destination, weight, volume, number of cartons or pallets and labour costs
- Shipping methods and speed delivery services influence delivery costs. Yadawee will determine it unless the client decides
- Over-delivery and under-delivery: Yadawee has the right to deliver and invoice a maximum of 10% over or under the quantity ordered
