We are constantly expanding our range of products to ensure that we can always offer our clients something truly unique.

Makasi Imports' founder and Managing Director, Dan Unsworth, has been travelling around the globe for nearly 30 years to maintain close relationships with all our suppliers so that he can personally guarantee the quality and ethical production of our products.

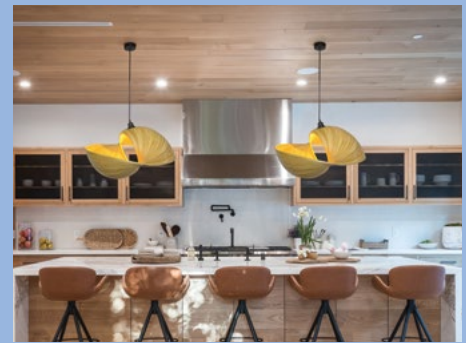

He buys from smaller, family suppliers, helping to support their local communities. Local craftspeople use recycled teak tree roots – this enables the whole tree to be used in the furniture making process, allowing replacement trees to be planted and thereby eliminating waste, creating employment and benefiting the environment. The roots are created into distinctive pieces of teak root driftwood style garden and home furniture, décor, sculptures, home accessories and much more.
