Norfolk born Jane Bannon is a self-taught artist specialising in stunning watercolours of farmyard and woodland animals. Art has always played an important part in Jane's life and she is happiest when painting an animal, capturing and conveying its innermost thoughts to the viewer.

Jane now calls the beautiful market town of Bungay, Suffolk, home. Living in a listed cottage in the conservation area, she loves to explore the countryside and to say hello to the animals that she sees on her daily walks. Her forest friends and the cows who live in the fields opposite her provide an excellent source of inspiration!

Ernest Hemmingway Mustard lives on the Brighton Hove border in a not-so-damp basement flat with his dear lady wife Violet, Doris a portly Jack Russell Terrier, an orange stripy cat and a fish called Rover. They will occasionally let a room to Audrey the sheep, the McWerter duck family, Hattie the Dalmatian, Roger the Sausage dog... In fact, you could say they provide a regular home from home for many dear waifs and strays.

Sam Toft lives by the sea in a tall white house with her two dogs Betty and Stan. She has a tiny little shop around the corner and a spacious gallery in two lovingly restored red phone boxes. A quiet seaside studio is her luxury: somewhere to retreat from the real world and to create another that can sometimes make more sense. A world of simple pleasures and seaside adventures. Where the wind is always blowing, the friends are imaginary and there's always sand in somebody's sandwiches.
