Jessica Hogarth

ILLUSTRATION & SURFACE PATTERN DESIGN

I am an illustrator and surface pattern designer based in Whitby, North Yorkshire, best known for creating location specific and coastal illustrations, from small English towns to world famous cities. My drawings begin as line drawings created with black pen on paper, before being digitally enhanced with stylish colour schemes.

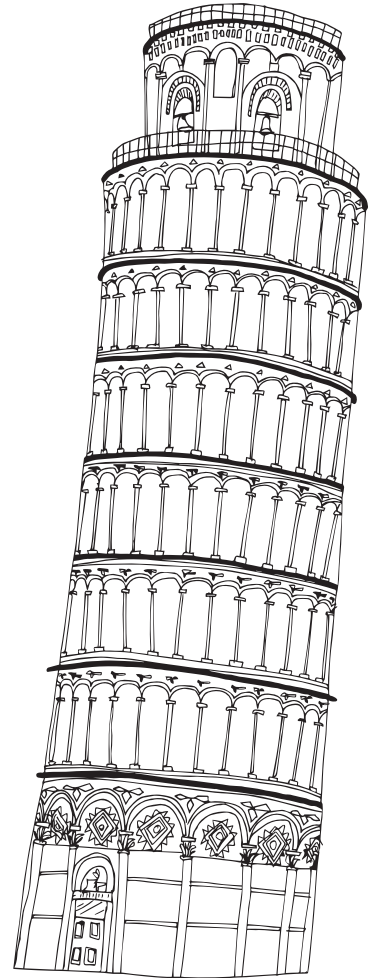

My training in surface pattern design means I am proficient in making both placement and repeat patterns. I use Adobe Illustrator giving flexibility with layout and scale of design.

I often create artwork for use on a licensed basis and also work with independent shops on bespoke designs which I can supply on a variety of UK made products.

Select Clients include:

Comme des Garçons | Papyrus | The RNLI |
Temple Island Collection | Mathmos |
Florette Salad | The Wall Street Journal |
Houses of Parliament Shop | Florette Salad
