Raw Materials

Egyptian Long-staple Cotton

It is highly prized for its long, smooth fibers that make it incredibly soft and durable. Grown in Egypt's fertile Nile Valley, it's hand-picked to ensure quality.

Fabric

100S Double-twist Fabric

Using 100s double-twist fabrics, two fine yarns are bonded together to form a single strand, which is stronger than single yarns of the same thickness and has greater flexibility.

Pattern

Inheriting the classical aesthetic lineage of Italy

The lace pattern is inspired by the veins of broad-leaved plants. It does not pursue excessive complexity and stacking. The order of the veins and the gentleness of the lace collide. It is restrained classical elegance.

Craftsmanship

Exquisite Jacquard Weaving Technology

It is crafted by skilled artisans with needle and thread, brings luxury haute couture craftsmanship to bedding. The warp and weft yarns interweave with each other to create textured patterns.

290TC Cotton Satin For Smoothness

The warp and weft yarns interweave only once every three or more threads. With a 290-count high-density weave, the fabric surface boasts a silk-like elegant sheen.

Pattern

Flower and leaf scroll pattern

The lace incorporates a rich variety of elements, including winding vines, flowers, and leaves. The scroll pattern symbolizes vitality and continuity, while the fruits and flowers represent blossoming, fruition, and abundance.

Design Inspiration

The visual divergence effect of the diamond pattern

The purity of art lies in lines, primary colors, and geometric shapes. By integrating lines and planes and breaking conventions, the sense of space in a set is enhanced.

Inspiration

Picasso's Inspiration Town NICE

The design inspiration comes from the town of Nice, which Picasso loved dearly. The sea here is bluer, and the light and colors of Nice have become the source of design inspiration.
