Welcome to Future Farming Expo Scotland.

Takes place at P&J Live Aberdeen
18-19 November, 2025

As Portfolio Director at Agriconnect, I'm excited to invite you to be part of shaping the future of agriculture with us.

This expo goes beyond being just another trade show. It's a unique platform where innovation, technology, and sustainable practices come together to drive the farming industry forward. Together, we'll showcase cutting-edge advancements, encourage knowledge sharing, and foster collaborative partnerships that enhance agricultural success.

Your involvement is key to making this vision a reality. With your support and engagement, we can provide an exceptional experience for our attendees, which include industry experts, thought leaders, and farmers.

Join us at Future Farming Expo Scotland and join the opportunity to be at the forefront of agricultural innovation. Together, we can shape the future of farming, embrace new ideas, and create lasting positive change.

Warm regards,

Sarah Whittaker-Smith

Welcome to Our Future Farming Content Overview

Visitor quotes

Good seminars, something there for everyone, good place for networking and info.

Great approach with everything in one place and the hubs a live part of the event, integrated into the floorspace in an open and inviting way. People tended to stay on for several hours.

The content hubs gave us a full day of knowledge and there were some great exhibitors to have conversations with inbetween sessions.

Exhibitor results

Our sessions are designed to give visitors practical, actionable insights into the critical areas impacting the farming industry today. Whether it's livestock management, soil health, business resilience, or renewable energy, we bring together experts and industry leaders to share the knowledge and tools visitors need to make informed decisions for their business.

Livestock

The future of the livestock sector holds vast potential, and our session will delve into ways to transform profits, drive growth, and anticipate evolving customer trends. Visitors will learn from industry leaders who will offer actionable advice on improving animal health and managing new risks, diseases, and challenges.

Carbon & Soils

Sustainable farming is built on understanding the critical role of carbon and soil health. These sessions will provide insights into carbon-conscious farming practices and the cutting-edge techniques for measuring soil carbon. Visitors can discover how UK agriculture can collaborate to build climate resilience and support the journey toward Net Zero.

Business Resilience

With changing weather patterns, market volatility, and rising input costs, resilience is key to farmers who need to future-proof their business. Experts will offer practical advice on financial planning, agricultural grants and schemes, and introduce innovations designed to help scale your operations.

Renewables & Energy

Visitors can explore the renewables and energy opportunities available for farm and rural businesses. Speakers will guide them through the various options, addressing finance and planning considerations, and offer practical advice on implementation and operational efficiency for on-farm solutions.

Partner

with the future of farming

A series of presentations and panel discussions will reflect topics that will help farmers and producers prepare for the future and manage innovation for change.

Throughout The Future Farming Expo, the content programme will provide a platform for speakers to present their expert knowledge on specific topics. The event will also give attendees the opportunity for visitors to put forward their own questions in one-to-one discussions.

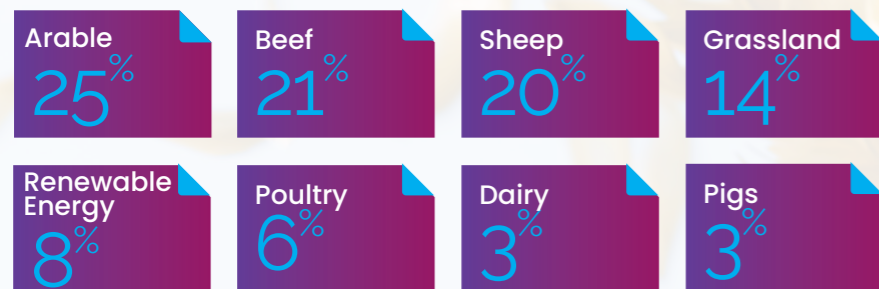

We asked attendees why they visit and the top 5 reasons are:

- Information on new trends/innovations
- Networking with other visitors
- Future proofing their business with new solutions
- To help make purchase decisions on new products/services
- To meet attend knowledge hubs & seminars

Top 6 visitor interests:

Renewables & conservation	Sustainable farming & environmental solutions	Soil health & crop rotation
Diversification	Livestock nutrition products and equipment	Business advisory & compliance

Benefits of Exhibiting

For its first year, Yara enjoyed being a part of such a dynamic and engaging show. Future Farming Expo allows us to see our own customers and many farmers we don't get to see at other events.

It allowed our area sales managers for Scotland to engage with lots of people, from students to farmers that are interested in new products and digital tools to support their efficiency.
