Our client had a large Summit at London's ExCel Arena where we had 8 theatres each with 1000 seats all in the same hall and running at the same time. So we needed a solution to deliver the audio in a clear and manageable way. Silent Seminars provided just that. The kit worked perfectly, and their team were fantastic to work with.

Silent Seminars in the EU

In 2023 we launched a new partnership with meeting innovators and audio-visual experts, ABBIT. With warehouses in Belgium & Spain, our team can now provide streamlined and efficient distribution throughout mainland Europe.

A little bit about our friends at ABBIT....

Since 1982, ABBIT provides meeting consultancy, audio visual set-ups, equipment, staff and expertise. They deliver in-person, online, hybrid, multi-hub projects and so much more...

They are a member of the PFL-Group. This allows them to tap into the group's resources: a warehouse full of technology, a Barcelona-based office, creative partners, an event centre and lots and lots of experience.

Are you planning a meeting, trade show, congress, award show, or general assembly? ABBIT is your meeting companion all the way. They can advise you on the format, set-up, and follow-up until the actual production.

While event organization can be hectic, they bring peace, tranquillity and above all: quality.

LIVE events – ONLINE events – and everything in between.

ABBIT does it. Every day. Everywhere. With a smile.

Talk to us about how we can help deliver the AV at your next event.

COP26 Case Study

November 2021

We would like to express our sincere thanks for your valuable collaboration at COP26

Orientations

The Issue

The UN Climate Change Conference COP26 which took place in Glasgow in November 2021 provided a vast technical headache for the event organiser. How do you deliver audio to multiple seminar theatres in an extremely busy and vibrant exhibition hall?

The Answer

Silent Seminars.

The Approach

Within the exhibition hall there was in excess of 80 pavilions, many featuring their own seminar rooms. These spaces varied in size and were to be used throughout the 2 week long conference to host delegate talks. Out of all the seminar spaces, 27 of them were open-plan theatres.

The challenge presented to Silent Seminars was to deliver clear audio in these theatres without any conflicting noise bleed. Something our wireless conference headset systems are perfect for.

Our team of engineers and event staff were on site 5 days prior to the summit going live to oversee the rigging, installation and to support rehearsals for using the headsets. This included advice on sanitising the headsets after every use in order to minimise the spread of infection.

Every area was fitted with a separate RF transmitter and the required number of headsets was supplied. This resulted in the delegates could listen to the talks throughout the course of the event, without being disturbed by anything else going on around them. Our technicians remained on hand throughout the 2 week live event to oversee the project and to manage and implement any developments.

Further challenges arose throughout the course of the event. For example, high profile speakers appeared without any publicity, resulting in spikes in demand for headsets, something our team had to react to.

Throughout the course of the 14 day event, Silent Seminars were able to deliver their technical expertise and crisp, clear audio to approximately 10,000 delegates.

The Result

Feedback from the client was that Silent Seminars were a "pleasure to work with". The audio was a success for the delegates and all the pavilion holders who were able to ensure their public speakers were able to clearly share their messages with the audience.
