

BAGMA Guide to Membership and Services

Supporting independent agricultural, construction, garden and groundcare
machinery dealers throughout the UK

BAGMA - Who are we?

We've been supporting independent dealers across the UK since 1917. Over this time, we've been fighting for better terms and conditions for dealers, from suppliers and manufacturers, drawing on the strength of our membership numbers to influence outcomes.

We work closely with the media and government departments to influence legislation and provide support in areas such as training and apprenticeships as well as advice to our members. We also partner with other European trade organisations through the CLIMMAR organisation to provide UK dealers with a wider industry perspective and better representation.

Sharing information, tips and best practice is a cornerstone of BAGMA. We work with a number of leading organisations to provide up-to-date advice on the topics that matter to you – legislation, workplace training, marketing, best practice and more.

“The best thing about BAGMA is that the information, support, advice and services offered are invaluable to small and large businesses alike.”

Peter Heming,
BAGMA President

The support and commitment of BAGMA's industry partners ensure we continue to provide the best support, services and information to our members.

Our industry partners include:

BAGMA - Member benefits

Your success is, and always will be, our priority. In addition to providing networking opportunities and business support, BAGMA proudly delivers industry-leading training programmes and genuine business savings for its members.

BAGMA - Training courses

Working closely with industry stakeholders, the Health & Safety Executive, dealers, manufacturers and other industry training bodies such as LANTRA, City & Guilds, NFU, AEA and others, BAGMA offers a wide range of industry related training courses. Our courses are also recognised by the Institution of Agricultural Engineers for CPD hours.

Available courses include:

- Agricultural Tractor Trailer Scheme (ATTS)
- Handover and Install Products and Services to Customers
- Thorough Examination of Equipment for Serviceability
- Air Conditioning Servicing and Refrigerant Handling Assessment
- Training for Business

BAGMA delivers training courses using independent approved trainers, corporate trainers, manufacturers or suppliers training staff. The courses can be delivered at BAGMA approved training and assessment centres, or alternatively, we are able to offer regional training to suit your needs. This could either be at your premises or at a regional training centre, subject to numbers and trainer availability.

While anyone involved in outdoor power equipment or land-based industries can enrol on our courses, a discount is available to BAGMA member companies.
