ABOUT US

Based in the South West of England, Southcombe Brothers have been making and designing gloves since 1847. One of Europe's largest and most experienced glove suppliers, Southcombe Brothers continue to lead the industry in terms of innovation, design, performance and customer service. From high-end protective Public Order gloves to simple uniform and ceremonial gloves, Southcombe Brothers has a range to suit all requirements and budgets. With many styles available from stock or made specifically to individual requirements, the range is constantly reviewed and updated to maintain market leadership.

Southcombe Brothers know gloves inside and out and pride themselves on making high-quality products that serve a purpose, fill a need and stand the test of time. Made with the best materials, hand-finished and crafted with skill, their police glove range is extensively used by leading Police Services within the UK as well as exported to discerning customers around the world. Compliant to the latest EN standards, the combination of high-performance textiles such as Kevlar® and Nomex® together with PYROHIDE® leather used in many of the designs, means that the quality of the gloves is unparalleled.

From humble beginnings to the forefront of technical glove construction, Southcombe Brothers has remained true to its roots; still a family-run business, Southcombe Brothers employs many local people in its tannery, machine rooms and warehouse. Building on their unique blend of expertise, experience and market knowledge, Southcombe Brothers don't need to shout about their products they let their quality do the talking.

PYROHIDE

The first line of defense for hand protection, PYROHIDE® grain leather is resistant to fire, heat, water, common chemicals and Man Made Mineral Fibres (MMFS). It is highly tactile in wet and dry conditions and remains soft after normal use. Manufactured in the UK by Southcombe Brothers using a proprietary formula.

DuPont™ Kevlar.

Kevlar® yarns in the lining and cuffing offer users excellent levels of cut-resistance as well as thermal protection.

DuPont™ Nomex.

Nomex® yarns in the cuffing materials and sewing threads provide the very best in heat and flame protection.
