LITTLE ROGLETS

OUR STORY

Little Roglets was born when a passionate UK based artist decided that their hobby was so much more than just a side hustle, and who believed that sweet hand painted animals had the potential to be turned into charming cards, gifts and nursery décor. Our portfolio of products has been thoughtfully designed, with each stage of the journey in becoming parents being taken into consideration. With an added desire to help educate children, along came the early learning resources and educational art collection.

Focused towards new families and babies, Little Roglets' designs are playful and personal, but also promote imagination and fun for little people. All of our products feature detailed, original watercolour artwork and friendly characters. Using soft and gender neutral colours, the products are designed to last and be treasured.

As our shop is predominantly focused towards all things baby and child, we believe it's important to reflect sustainability in the way we operate as a brand. After all, it's our children that are growing up in this world so if we can make that a more sustainable place, then we'll do what we can. We use eco-friendly inks and packaging that can be recycled, reused or popped in the compost bin.

I genuinely believe kids and animals are one of life's greatest blessings, so what better way to structure this little business than around the things in life that make pretty much everyone happy.

I look forward to working with you!

Lex :) Owner, Artist & Product Designer
