Glug.

'Glug Glug' Jugs were originally made by Thomas Forester & Son in Staffordshire in the late 1870's.

Since the first 'glug', the world famous Gluggle Jug has become an attention-grabbing conversation piece whether at the dinner table, cocktail bar, kitchen worktop or even when it's used as an ornament or a decorative utensil.

The 'glugging' sound emanating from this fish's mouth when liquid is poured is both unmistakable and unique. It's no wonder they've become the 'must have' accessory for any stylish home, bar or eatery.

Today, The Gluggle Jug Factory, proud and exclusive owners of the original Gluggle Jug brand, manufacture and distribute an extensive range of size and colour permutations, which has grown from the original jug first conceived 150 years ago, to four different size version and a plethora of colour possibilities.

Handmade.

The original Gluggle Jugs are manufactured using only the finest British raw materials.

Located in the heart of England in Stoke-on-Trent, Staffordshire, 'The Potteries' is known as the traditional home of ceramics across the globe, but it's not just The Gluggle Jug Factory location and our 200-year history that sets us apart.

Each Gluggle Jug is hand cast, hand dipped, and hand finished by our team of skilled craftsmen and women, lovingly created using an intricate manufacturing process that ensures the highest quality at every stage of production.

Don't be fooled by fakes or imitations. Look for The Gluggle Jug Factory logo on the base to be sure that you have the genuine article.

Ornamental.

When it comes to being left on the shelf, our Gluggle Jugs really don't mind.

From contemporary and trendy to farmhouse chic, there's an original Gluggle Jug for any type of interior. Simply leave one on a shelf to draw admiring glances, 'oohs' and 'ahhs', or top it up with a bunch of your favourite flowers; however you choose to use yours, your Gluggle Jug will be sure to start a conversation.

Exquisite

Organiser.

Both beautiful and practical – is there no end to its talents?

From being the perfect staple piece in any office, or when creating a masterpiece in your art studio, your Gluggle Jug can be used as a desk tidy, to hold paintbrushes, or for storing kitchen utensils when rustling up your signature dish.

They're even dishwasher safe too, so no need to worry about those accidental spillages either.

Majestic.

Quintessentially British.

As iconic as James Bond and as recognisable as our National Anthem, this pottery masterpiece exudes everything that is Britishness.

From its design roots to the manufacturing process; the materials that it's made from to the people that make it, everything about the Gluggle Jug is 100% British; something that we're particularly proud of here at The Gluggle Jug Factory.

An ambassador for the industry and a diplomat for the region, it represents everything that makes Britain great.

Jug.

The Gluggle Jug is both versatile and attractive, but it's true 'raison d'être' is as a jug (the clue is in the name).

Whether you take your coffee with a splash of milk, prefer a glass of juice to quench your thirst or perhaps partake in a glass of wine on a balmy evening, there's a Gluggle Jug perfect for every occasion – the possibilities are endless.

In the evening, our Gluggle Jugs sit elegantly on the dinner table and the unmistakable 'glug' is as entertaining as it is charming.

Non-scaled.

Gluggle Jugs are also available in a non-scaled version.

The flattened surface means that we're able to add logos, wording or emblems either printed or as an embossed design. Perfect for the corporate market or for businesses who want to personalise their Gluggle Jugs.

We can even help design something that's sympathetic to your brand identity and match almost any colour too.

Discuss your requirements with your Gluggle Jug Factory contact, everything's possible (within reason of course)*.

Sizes.

Fully vitrified.

Here's the science bit. Vitrification (from vitreum, Latin for "glass"), is the most important, and perhaps the most misunderstood, process in ceramics.

The glass formed in the process of vitrification is what holds ceramic materials together. Without it, the liquid retention properties are compromised.

The owner of an original Gluggle Jug can rest safe in the knowledge that it's fully vitrified. This makes it 100% waterproof both inside and out, meaning that it won't absorb water and potentially crack, something that is very common with inferior products. It's even dishwasher safe too.

Our exacting manufacture process means that your precious Gluggle Jug will serve you for many, many years.
