What is seed paper?

Our plantable seed paper is handmade paper made from recycled cotton waste from the textile industry. This eco-friendly paper contains seeds embedded within its fibers, allowing it to be planted in soil after use. As the paper decomposes, the seeds germinate and grow into plants, resulting in a beautiful and eco-friendly way to repurpose waste materials.

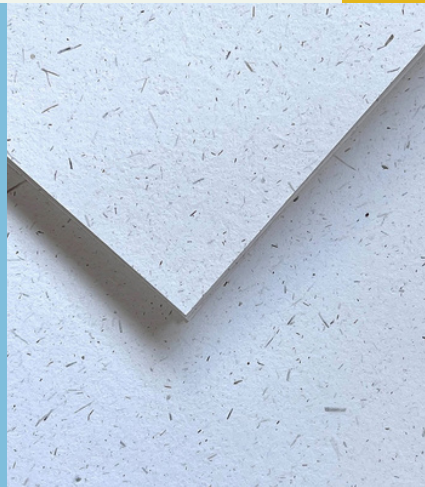

Visit our website for planting instructions.

We use our Bloom seed paper for the Little Green Gifts range. Air dried to offer the highest growth rate, it is handmade using residual cotton from the textile industry, that means old clothes are turned into paper, mixed with wildflower seeds and Bloom is the result! Seed mix typically includes common wildflowers such as poppy, daisy and alyssum. With its beautiful texture and crisp white colour, it makes the perfect paper for our sustainable gifts.

Bloom Seed Paper

Elephant Poo Paper

Elephant poo paper, crafted from a blend of elephant dung and recycled fibers, offers sheets with distinct colors and textures. Its production not only presents a sustainable alternative to traditional papermaking but also supports conservation efforts by repurposing waste and safeguarding elephant habitats. Despite its unconventional source, the paper is odor-free and safe for use, undergoing rigorous cleaning and sterilization. With its unique appearance, elephant poo paper serves as a conversation piece, symbolizing creative recycling and environmental consciousness.

Our plantable pens & pencils are made from recycled paper and they contain seeds embedded within the capsule at the top. After the pen or pencil has been used up, instead of tossing it away, you can plant it in soil. As the capsule decomposes, the seeds are released and germinate growing into wildflowers. They are a small yet impactful step towards a greener future, combining functionality with the joy of watching new life sprout from something as simple as a writing instrument.

A little bit about how it all began...

In the whirlwind of new motherhood, Ana found herself juggling diapers and deadlines, yearning for a balance between nurturing her baby and her entrepreneurial spirit. Out of this chaos sprouted the idea for Little Green Paper Shop, and now it's sister company Little Green Gifts.

With a sprinkle of determination and a dash of creativity, Ana planted the seeds of her business, envisioning a workplace where flexibility and fulfillment coexisted harmoniously. Beyond business, we're more than just a company, we're a team of strong women with a passion for sustainability, seeking to cultivate our careers without sacrificing precious moments with our loved ones.

Ana's journey began with a mission to merge environmental consciousness with creativity, offering unique alternatives to traditional stationery and gifts. Utilizing plantable seeded paper and elephant poo paper, we redefine gifting by providing items that not only delight but also contribute to a healthier planet. Our commitment to quality, craftsmanship, and sustainability runs through every aspect of our production process, from recycled materials to eco-friendly practices in packaging and distribution.

So, whether you're a green thumb enthusiast or simply in need of a little pick-me-up, join us in celebrating life's beautiful chaos one seed at a time. After all, at Little Green Gifts, we believe that the best things grow from a little bit of love and a whole lot of laughter.

Sustainability

At Little Green Gifts, sustainability is at the core of everything we do. We are committed to minimizing our environmental impact by using eco-friendly materials, reducing waste, and implementing sustainable practices throughout our operations. By prioritizing sustainability, we strive to inspire positive change and contribute to a healthier planet for current and future generations.

We believe in the power of innovation to drive positive change.

Empowerment

A pocket hug is a heartfelt gesture used to express care and support, especially when physical distance prevents an in-person embrace. Give this small heart to someone as a way of letting them know they are being thought of and that you're sending them a virtual hug. It will provide comfort and warmth, much like a real hug, even when you can't be there in person. It's a lovely way to show someone you care during challenging times or when you simply want to brighten their day.
