MADE IN THE UK

Every Victoria Eggs product is sustainably made in the UK, blending quality craftsmanship with heartfelt design. From the Cornish clay that creates the fine bone china for our ceramics, to the 100% cotton textiles which are printed using environmentally safe water-based inks. We pride ourselves on working closely with manufacturers who use sustainable materials and processes.

All our textiles are handmade using ethical supply chains and recyclable materials. We use ethically sourced cotton, printed with environmentally friendly water-based inks. We can trace all our fabrics back to where the yarn is sourced, processed, spun and woven. They are also fully recyclable.

Our ceramics* are handcrafted from Cornish clay in Stoke-on-Trent, Staffordshire, the Heart of the Potteries, using sustainable materials and processes. Using traditional craftsmanship, up to 20 pairs of hands can be involved in making each product. This includes attaching each mug handle skilfully by hand.

The clay that is used to make the fine bone china comes from St. Austell, Cornwall, and the bone ash, a key component in making the china strong, is recycled from a local butchery. More energy efficient kilns have been installed which also utilise any excess heat to dry the clay, demonstrating a commitment to sustainability. To ensure as little waste as possible during this process, any mugs created which do not meet our exacting standards, are sent to a local tile company, who reuse and recycle the clay.

Our stationery is printed onto FSC® certified paper and the coasters are made from v® certified wood.

We are committed to producing minimal packaging, made from easily recyclable materials and responsible production.

*excluding egg cups.

ROYAL FAMILY

The intricately hand-drawn Royal Family design gazes upon the grounds of Buckingham Palace, as the family go about their daily lives. The fairytale tree represents the unique characteristics of each member.

The Oak trees (a symbol of stability and longevity) are adorned with tiny details, unique to the personalities and interests of the Royal Family, creating a regal Easter egg hunt across its strokes.

These include; King Charles III environmental work and support for the arts, Queen Camilla's love for books, gardening and her favourite flowers and beloved dogs, William, Prince of Wales's passion for football and polo, Catherine, Princess of Wales's love for photography, tennis and hockey, Prince George carrying a picnic basket showing his love of cooking, Princess Charlotte's ballet slippers, and Prince Louis' love of gardening.
