Fine Art Prints

Colour Theory

Our unique collection of colour theory fine art prints showcases design treasures we've personally unearthed and restored from vintage books, offering an exclusive blend of timeless elegance and artistic inspiration.

Watercolour Swatches

In 1692 (centuries before Pantone!) Dutch artist A. Boogert wrote a book about mixing watercolours. Spanning nearly 800 pages, it was probably the most comprehensive guide to paint and colour of its time. This incredible book was the inspiration for this eye-catching art print collection. Our design team enhanced and adapted the original artwork to breathe fresh life into Boogert's beautiful watercolour swatch paintings.

NEW

The Art Of Colouring

COC042

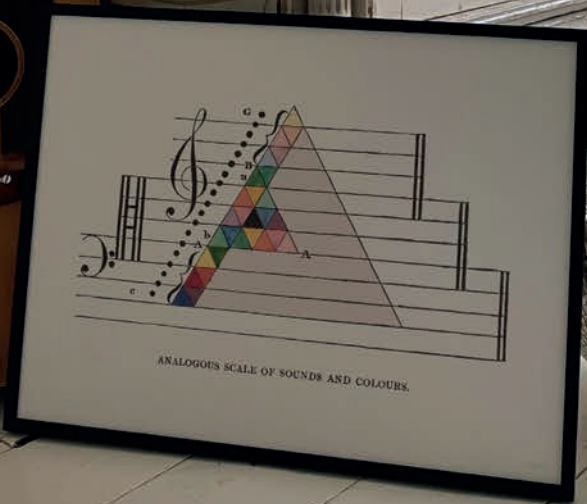

We uncovered this peculiar page related to 'tools and utensils' from a book about the art of colouring and painting landscapes in watercolours, published in 1805.

NEW

Scale of Sounds and Colours

COC043

This fascinating diagram illustrates the concords and discords of the chromatic musical scale and its relationship with colour. Published in a book in 1817 exploring the analogy and harmony of colours, we loved this unique, vintage representation of colour theory.

Nomenclature of Colors

COC040

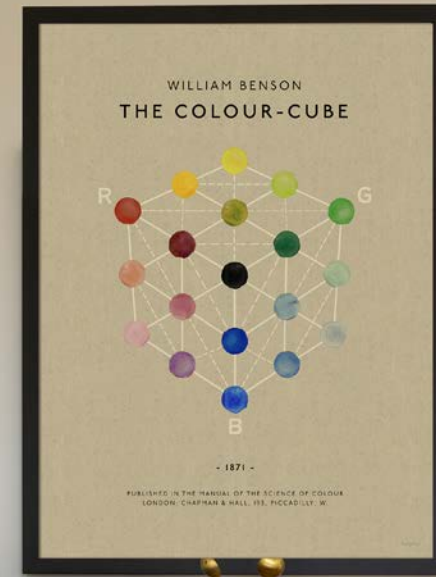

Adapted from colour swatches ornithologist Robert Ridgway produced in 1886 to standardise names of colours of birds for naturalists.

L' Art De La Couleur

COC020

Johannes Itten was one of the first people to define and identify strategies for successful colour combinations. This fine art print of a colour chart illustrates his analysis of colour contrasts and was published in his book L'Art De La Couleur in 1967.

The Colour Cube

COC021P

Our interpretation of William Benson's RGB Colour Cube from his book 'The Manual of the Science of Colour' published in 1871. Our designers digitally recreated the illustrations, adding colour enhancements and texture.

The Study Of Colour Harmony

COC019

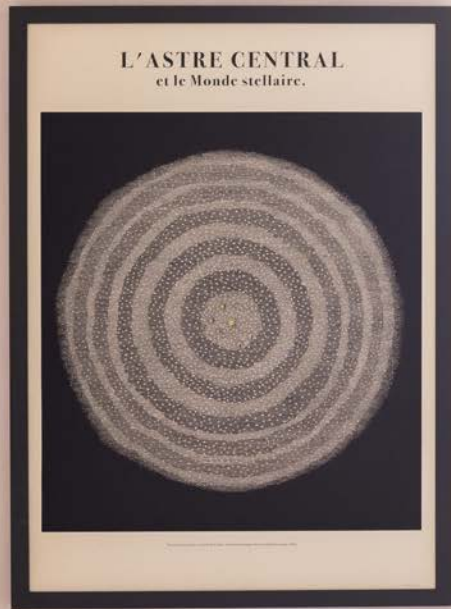

Unearthed in a book published in 1923 examining colour theory, we found this colour wheel illustration in a chapter exploring 'Colour Harmony' with suggestions on how to match complementary colours. Our team carefully restored the original illustration, adding some digital enhancements to create this stunning art print.

Fine Art Prints Vintage

A unique mix of design treasures we've personally unearthed and restored from flea markets and vintage book shops.

NEW

L'astre Central et le Monde Stellaire

COC044

This antique celestial image caught our eye for its beauty and the concentric nature of the design. Dating back to 1851, the image explores the central sun and the view of the fixed stars, published in the book 'Astronomical Images Atlas of Ludwig Preysinger'.

Vintage Alphabet coc045

Discovered by our Founder from an antique store in a recent trip to Paris, this delightful Alphabet art print is believed to be a printer's sample, dating back to 1850 in Avignon, France.

NEW

Japanese Fireworks

COC023

This unique design features a curation of nine illustrations from Japanese Fireworks catalogues from the 1880s. Without photos, C.T. Brock and Co. used these stunning illustrations to evoke the unique sense of visual wonder for their fireworks collection.

Book Of Herbs

Our Book Of Herbs collection features incredible illustrations from over 500 years ago! Published in 1462, the original German book combined descriptions of 160 herbs with enchanting illustrations. Our designers have hand picked the most captivating illustrations from this ancient gem and given them a fresh, modern twist by adding vibrant patterned backgrounds.

Fleurs De Jardin

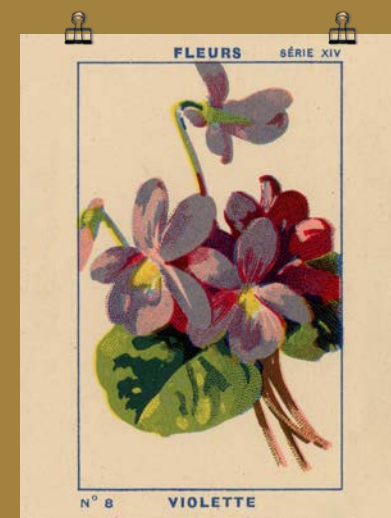

Dating back to the 1930s, these beautiful flower illustrations were discovered in an album of vintage trading cards offered as promotional gifts with food products manufactured by the Joseph Milliat factory in Lyon, France. We were fortunate to uncover an original complete album featuring all 240 coloured trading cards and adapted three cards to create this beautiful collection of fine art prints.

Fungi
COC035

Researched and recorded by a naturalist over 40 years dating back to 1860, we found these incredible drawings of fungi from England and Wales rendered in pencil, watercolour, and ink, and chose the most well-known British species to curate this one-of-a-kind fine art print.

Tarot Card - Cups NEW

COC048

This image of the tarot card "Cups" is from an Italian tarot card set that we acquired from the 1700's. Our design team restored & enhanced the artwork to create this beautiful fine art print. Cups is thought to be a positive omen in a love Tarot reading if you are in a relationship because it indicates the prospect of romantic proposals and unions.

La Tour Eiffel

COC010

Inspired by a vintage 1889 art print discovered in a Parisian antique store, this fine art print showcases the construction plans for the Eiffel Tower, built for the renowned 'Exposition Universelle' world's fair. Our designers expertly restored and enhanced the original artwork, reviving this amazing piece of history.

*British Algae
Cyanotype Impressions*
COC028

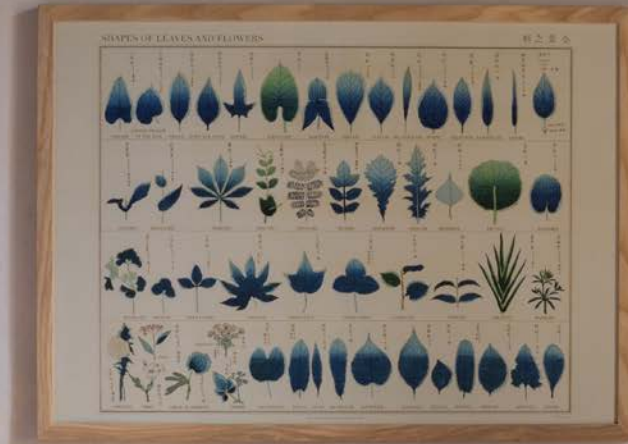

These wonderfully detailed photographs of British Algae were taken by a British female amateur botanist between 1843-1853 using Hershel's blueprinting process to create stunning cyanotype impressions. Our design team curated this fine art print with a unique arrangement of sixteen photographs.

Japanese Shapes of Leaves

COC032

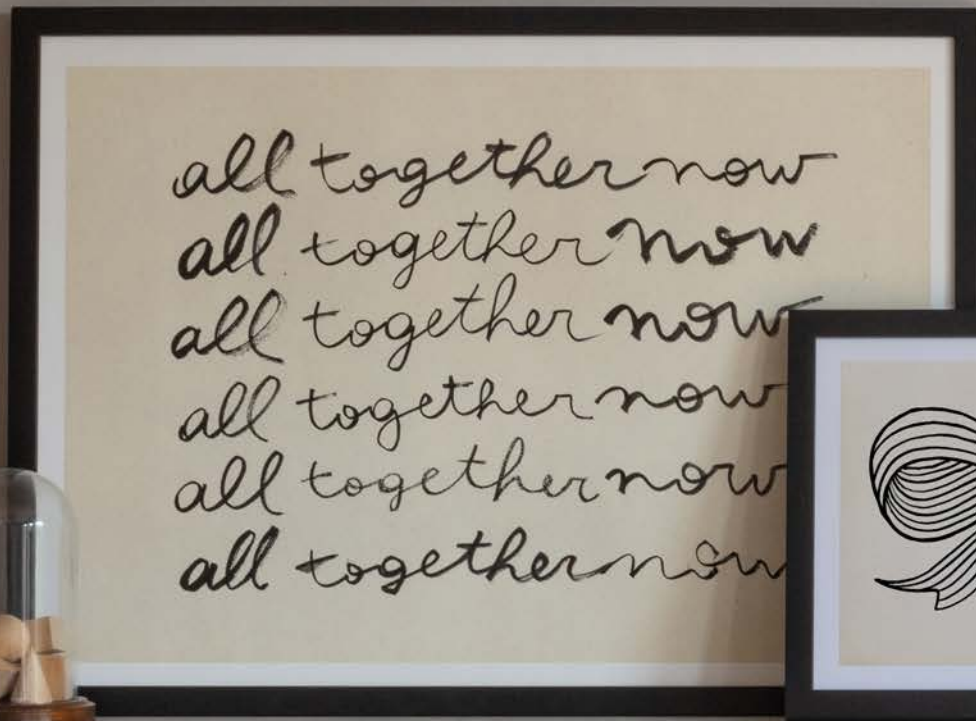

Reproduced from original illustrations by a Japanese artist published in a book about botany in 1873.

Papillons

COC049

We uncovered these butterfly illustrations in a French colouring book from the 1930s. We like the idea of the composition feeling full of movement and like they are flying versus statically on display. We chose our favourite butterfly illustrations, and recoloured them while keeping the original outlines.

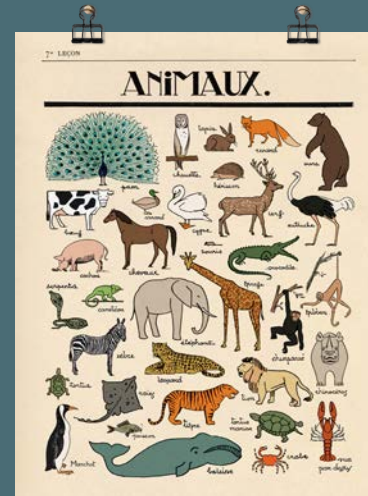

ABC Blocks

VPT004

Reimagined from a set of vintage wooden alphabet blocks unearthed at a flea market in Somerset, UK.

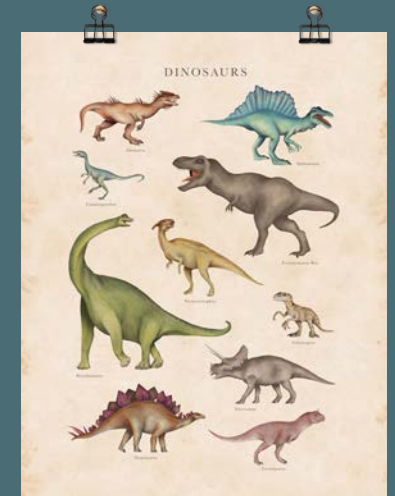

Les Animaux

COC014

We unearthed these vintage animal illustrations in a children's book from the 1930s. We carefully digitally restored and coloured the illustrations to create this unique art print.
