MÆGEN

Maegen, pronounced “may-en” is an Old English word meaning spiritual strength or power. A person’s maegen depends on the deeds they do. It can be lost through bad deeds and gained through good deeds.

Maegen is a coming together of strengths. Designed and developed by a close knit team, passionate about beautiful products and carefully curated fragrances. At Maegen we have pulled our collective strengths together to create a range that is powerful in performance and not only looks good, but by being poured in the UK using only 100% sustainable soy wax and British made fragrances, does good too.

A photograph of a purple incense box with a gold stick and a glass dish on a mirror. The box is the central focus, lying diagonally. It has a marbled pattern in shades of purple and pink. A gold incense stick is placed across the box and a clear glass dish. The entire scene is set on a circular mirror with a gold rim, which reflects the objects and the background. The background is a white surface with horizontal blinds, and a green plant is visible at the bottom.
