OUR STORY

Eloise Rose Design Studio is rooted in a deep passion for historical ceramics and decorative arts . Our studio was founded with the aim of bringing the beauty and elegance of historical pottery into modern lives. We take pride in our attention to detail and craftsmanship, offering a range of products that are inspired by centuries-old designs.

Eloise Rose has a background in both Costume Period Drama and Opera Design. After working across Europe in these disciplines she began designing pieces for her home inspired by the historical and rural design skills she'd learnt. Rather on a whim she signed up for a local market to sell some of her creations, and when these started selling out she knew she was onto something. Historical Design with a Contemporary Style.

The Heirloom Collection draws inspiration from historical figures such as Anne Boleyn, reimagined heritage. Since their launch last year, these designs have become our best selling pieces due to their timeless charm.
