Fine Little Day presents SS25

Since 2007, Fine Little Day has been all about sharing the work of creators and artists, whether it's through social media, exhibitions, or the products we bring to life. We've got some exciting updates coming your way, here are some glimpses. Stay tuned!

In 2025, we're keeping the creative momentum going strong with new collaborations and in-house designs that are about to make your walls, tables, and everything in between look next-level. We're thrilled to bring you works from the insanely talented Evelina Kroon, Emilia Ilke, and Kristin Thenman – each with their own distinctive magic. Plus, get ready for some nice new in-house pieces from Elisabeth Dunker. It's shaping up to be an inspiring spring.

KROKUS TERRACOTTA

Kristine Thenman's Krokus Vase, stepping into spring with a fresh, earthy twist in terracotta colored porcelain. This piece is already a stunner in green and white, but the new color takes it further – warm and grounding, the perfect centerpiece of any space.

LEAVES

Linnéa Andersson's bold botanical style, in all its glory, is now wrapped up in a vibrant, mood-lifting yellow cushion cover and muslin shawl – a burst of energy for your space.

SNÄCKA

Emilia Ilke's "Snäcka" tablecloth brings an effortless charm to any dining space, and is now also available with a water-repellent coating – perfect for both daily meals and gatherings where spills are inevitable. The coated finish preserves the textile's natural feel while adding a layer of durability, making it a versatile piece that captures both form and function.
