Meet Okiki

Okiki Skincare is an award-winning natural skincare and home fragrance brand founded in 2016 by mother and daughter duo, Ade and Antonia Ogunsola. Based in Kent, the duo take inspiration from their Nigerian and Ghanaian roots to create handmade, cruelty-free products.

Our product range covers everything from sumptuous soap bars to alluring candles and relaxing bath salts.

We value tradition, community and the bounty of the Earth.

We're partnered with the One Tree Planted initiative, which means for every large candle sold, we will donate £1 to help re-plant trees in Ghana.

All of our products are also Leaping Bunny approved, the internationally recognisable gold standard for cruelty free products.

Our Story

Our Founder, Ade, originally started Okiki as a way to connect with her mum, who used to make soaps during Ade's childhood. Ade's grandma also loved infusing her own oils with herbs, and this is where the inspiration for Okiki came from.

One day Ade decided she was going to make her own soaps and started doing it as a hobby. What once was a hobby, has now turned into Okiki Skincare.

It is extremely important to Ade to create all of Okiki's products using the best quality ingredients.

Ade hand-makes all of our products with a tremendous amount of love, and we believe that is truly what makes us special and unique.

All of our products are unisex as everyone deserves a little bit of Okiki love.

"I would use that soap twice a day for 60 seconds, and I said to my mum, 'You're onto something here because I can actually see my face changing,"

Antonia Ogunsola, Co-Founder of Okiki
Skincare

Our Values

Tradition

Okiki literally means prestigious in Yoruba. Our aim is to create the best natural ingredients while paying homage to our rich Nigerian and Ghanaian heritage.

Community

Because we draw inspiration from our roots, many of our products are reminiscent of recipes that have been used by our Nigerian ancestors for generations.

The Bounty of The Earth

We are partnered with One Tree Initiative and Leaping Bunny Approved. We ensure as much of our packaging is sustainable as possible.

OKIKI SKINCARE AKEHINDE (HE WHO CAME AFTER ME) CANDLE, £27

Founders: Ade and Antonia Ogunsola

'Okiki meaning 'Prestige' in the Yoruba language was founded by mother-daughter duo Ade and Antonia. What started as a soul-healing hobby of making soap after Ade's mother passed, sparked their desire to create high-quality products using only the best natural ingredients that are affordable for everyone to use, all the while paying homage to their Nigerian and Ghanaian heritage. Each product is reminiscent of recipes that have been used by their ancestors for generations.

"This duo of kind, strong women values tradition and community; Ade and Antonia believe in helping the women they work with move up the ladder by helping them set up their own businesses and brands. And if that isn't enough, they have partnered with the One Tree Planted initiative, meaning every large candle sold will result in a £1 donation by Okiki to help re-plant trees in Ghana. The candle itself is named 'Akehinde' which means 'he who came after me'. It's a delicious blend of tonka bean, cedarwood and patchouli that will indeed bring all the boys to the yard. It's topped off with a crackling wooden wick, evoking the scents and feelings of campfires on an open fire." Hattie Sloggett, GTG Contributor
