Keshan Heritage

Why New Zealand Wool?

The vast lush fields of New Zealand is home to over 25 million sheep livestock which provides the highest quality of wool today. Therefore, New Zealand is amongst the leading producers in the wool industry. New Zealand wool is also known to be the whitest, cleanest wool in the world. The importance of wool being whiter is that this wool fibre has the ability to accept dyes better.

VISCOSE

Viscose is a semi-synthetic fibre that was originally designed to be an alternative for silk, meaning it carries that same soft velvet feeling.

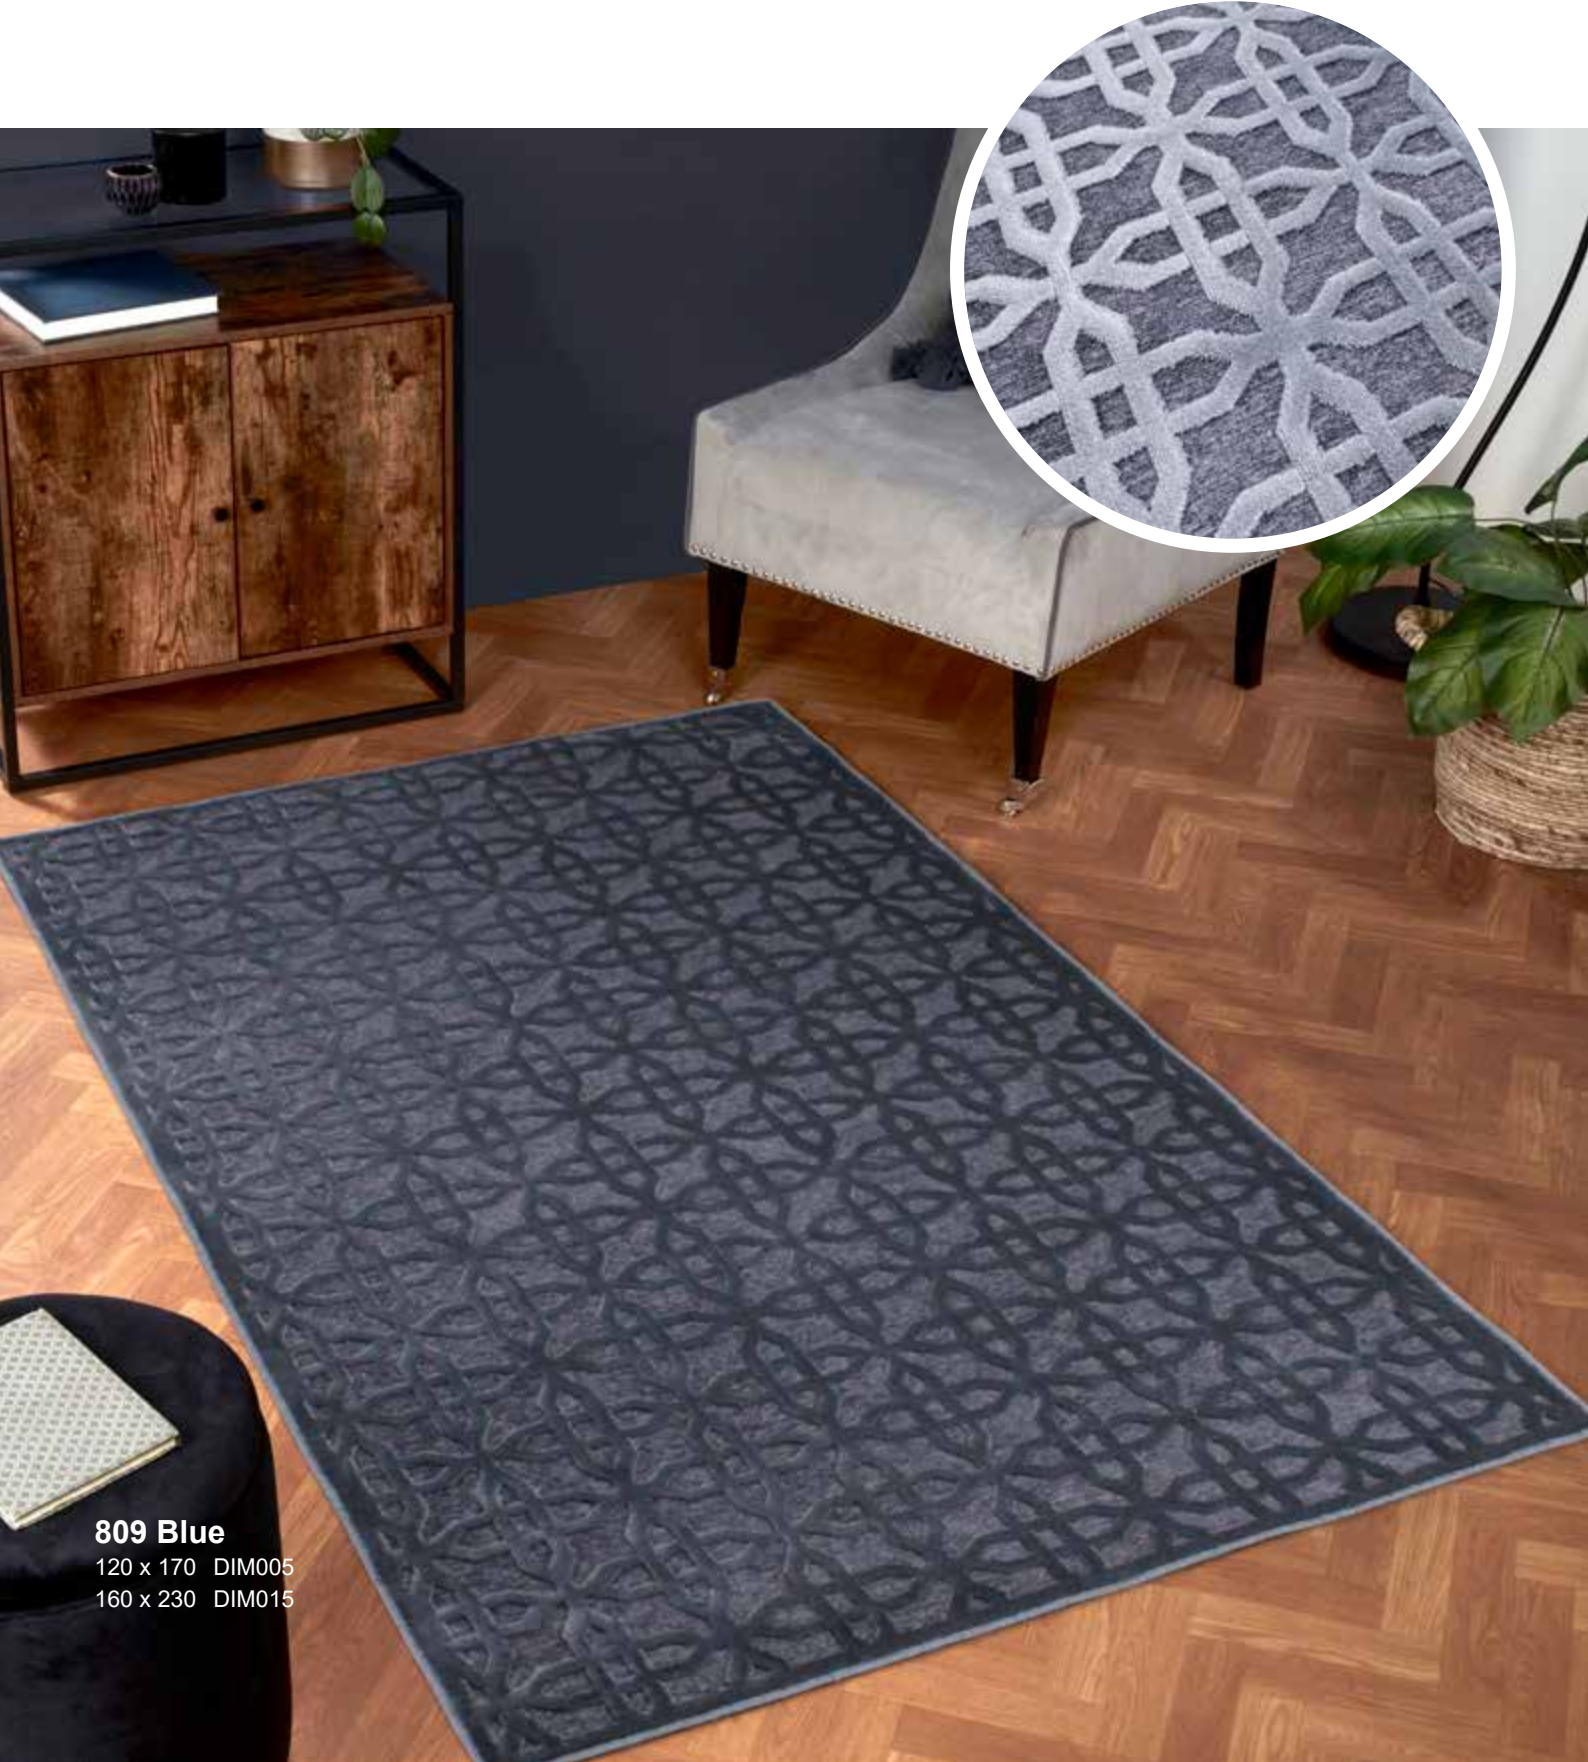

Viscose is made from natural sources of regenerated cellulose such as wood and other natural agricultural products. The process produces a totally lightweight, soft and luxurious yarn making these rugs the ultimate statement piece.

Our viscose ranges contain many different designs in several colour options. Whether it's a modern Dimensions or a traditional aztec design form Oushak, a viscose rug will be an elegant finishing touch for your home.
