Welcome

Bluebone

THE AUTUMN 2022 EDIT

N ights draw in, and we welcome the season for hun-kering down and getting cosy with five new themes for Autumn. Our mood boards create schemes that each include strong dining and living ranges, new artwork and homewares, plus styling suggestions for rugs, paint, wallpaper and textiles.

We have always embraced reclaimed and recycled materials,
however throughout 2022 our commitment to the environment has strengthened, and you can read our sustainability story on page 14.

We have extended our homeware collections to include new basketware, artwork and a selection of Javanese antiques. We also introduce the pelican and penguin to our bird family - meet them all on the back cover.

Let our Autumn edition inspire you, and our sales team will be happy to help you create beautiful new season displays.

Modern RUSTIC

Create a rich autumnal interior. Natural teak branchwood and rustic reclaimed timbers work with warm oranges and deep greens, the colours of Autumn. Kilim rugs, animal hide pouffes and baskets complete the look.

Our Sustainability Journey

Bluebone are committed to being a responsible furniture wholesaler.

Our furniture is designed to withstand the test of time, age beautifully and fit in both modern and traditional homes while being eco-friendly and sustainably sourced.

The wood used for much of our furniture is reclaimed, and therefore by definition eco-friendly.

Our reclaimed wood ranges are crafted from timber so old you can feel the history and character. Each piece tells its own story, no two pieces of wood are the same. Our new Dwell range is sourced through recognised Indonesian timber brokers who purchase timbers recovered from old colonial buildings. This rustic, weathered and durable wood is perfect for the UK market. Rapid expansion in Indonesia has seen substantial building work across the country and the old-style wooden buildings are being replaced with more sanitary and modern brick and tile housing. As a result, there is a supply of seasoned teak timber which not only has a rustic weathered appearance, but is very durable in the UK climate and is much less likely to shrink, move or crack. Each old 'dinglik' plank is stamped by the authorities as a proof of its source prior to being brought to the factory. On occasions we use premium grade, solid plantation teak sourced and kiln dried from government-controlled plantations on the backing of units and inner drawer panels. We also use mango wood, from trees that have passed their fruit bearing years, and fast growing indigenous timbers such as albasia and mindi. We are constantly in touch with our manufacturers to ensure that the wood they work with is ecologically sound. Many of our ranges use FSC certified timber, and all of our shipments must have a FLEGT licence that proves we are exporting legal timbers from managed sources. We manufacture both furniture and handcrafted accessories from all across Indonesia and its beautiful villages. We love the techniques that local Indonesians use and the final results are pieces that have been lovingly crafted and don't negatively impact the environment. Bluebone maintain ethical procedures in the UK and minimising our environmental impact is one of our core aims. We work hard to recycle as much packaging in the UK as possible and we operate 'positive recycling' reusing as many boxes and wrappings as possible.
