Selbrae HOUSE

MEANINGFULLY MADE

A note from our owner, Donny

At Selbrae House, every collection begins with how it will live in people's homes, and how it will sit within your stores. This season, we've brought together a considered range designed to support meaningful seasonal retail, with pieces that feel relevant in the moment but continue to sell year after year.

Our Mistletoe collection reflects the quieter side of Christmas. It offers customers something familiar yet refined, with soft festive detailing across ceramics, serveware and textiles that lend themselves naturally to gifting, hosting and tradition-led purchases. Alongside this, our Robin collection introduces a gentle sense of winter. These are versatile pieces designed for everyday use throughout the colder months, giving them a longer selling window and strong repeat appeal as the season returns.

We've also expanded our barware and game sets to support key gifting moments. This is a category that continues to perform, and we've focused on creating pieces that feel considered but accessible. From whisky sets and glassware to walnut wood games, these are products that sit comfortably across both gifting and self-purchase. Our new landscape designs add a quieter, more design-led option, offering breadth for different customer tastes and retail environments.

As always, our aim is to create collections that help you build a story in-store. Pieces that draw customers in, encourage them to buy with intention, and return to you again.

We hope this season's collections support a strong and successful period for you.

Donny
Owner, Selbrae House

MISTLETOE AW26

Our Mistletoe collection is shaped by the quiet rituals of the festive season. Soft detailing and familiar motifs sit gently across ceramics, serveware and textiles, designed to be part of slower mornings, shared tables and evenings at home. These are pieces to bring out each Christmas, becoming part of the traditions that return year after year.

ROBIN_{AW26}

There's something about the first sight of a robin that marks the turn of the season. This collection draws on that feeling, bringing a gentle sense of winter into the home. Spanning kitchen and table, each piece is designed for everyday moments during the colder months, and for returning to as the season comes around again.
