TRADITIONAL MEDIUMS

I create art using watercolour, acrylics, and Chinese inks, adopting an intuitive approach without preliminary sketches. Inspired by countryside walks, my pieces evolve into floral fields. While I often visualize ideas mentally, I occasionally reference my sketchbook for planning, guided by the desired mood and customer preferences.

With extensive experience in watercolour and a recent integration of acrylics, I appreciate the versatility of the latter, smoothly adapting to various materials. Despite this, the intricate details achievable with watercolours and acrylics uniquely capture my floral style, creating a harmonious balance. Working with both mediums brings me immense enjoyment and fulfillment.

MY PROCESS OF CREATING

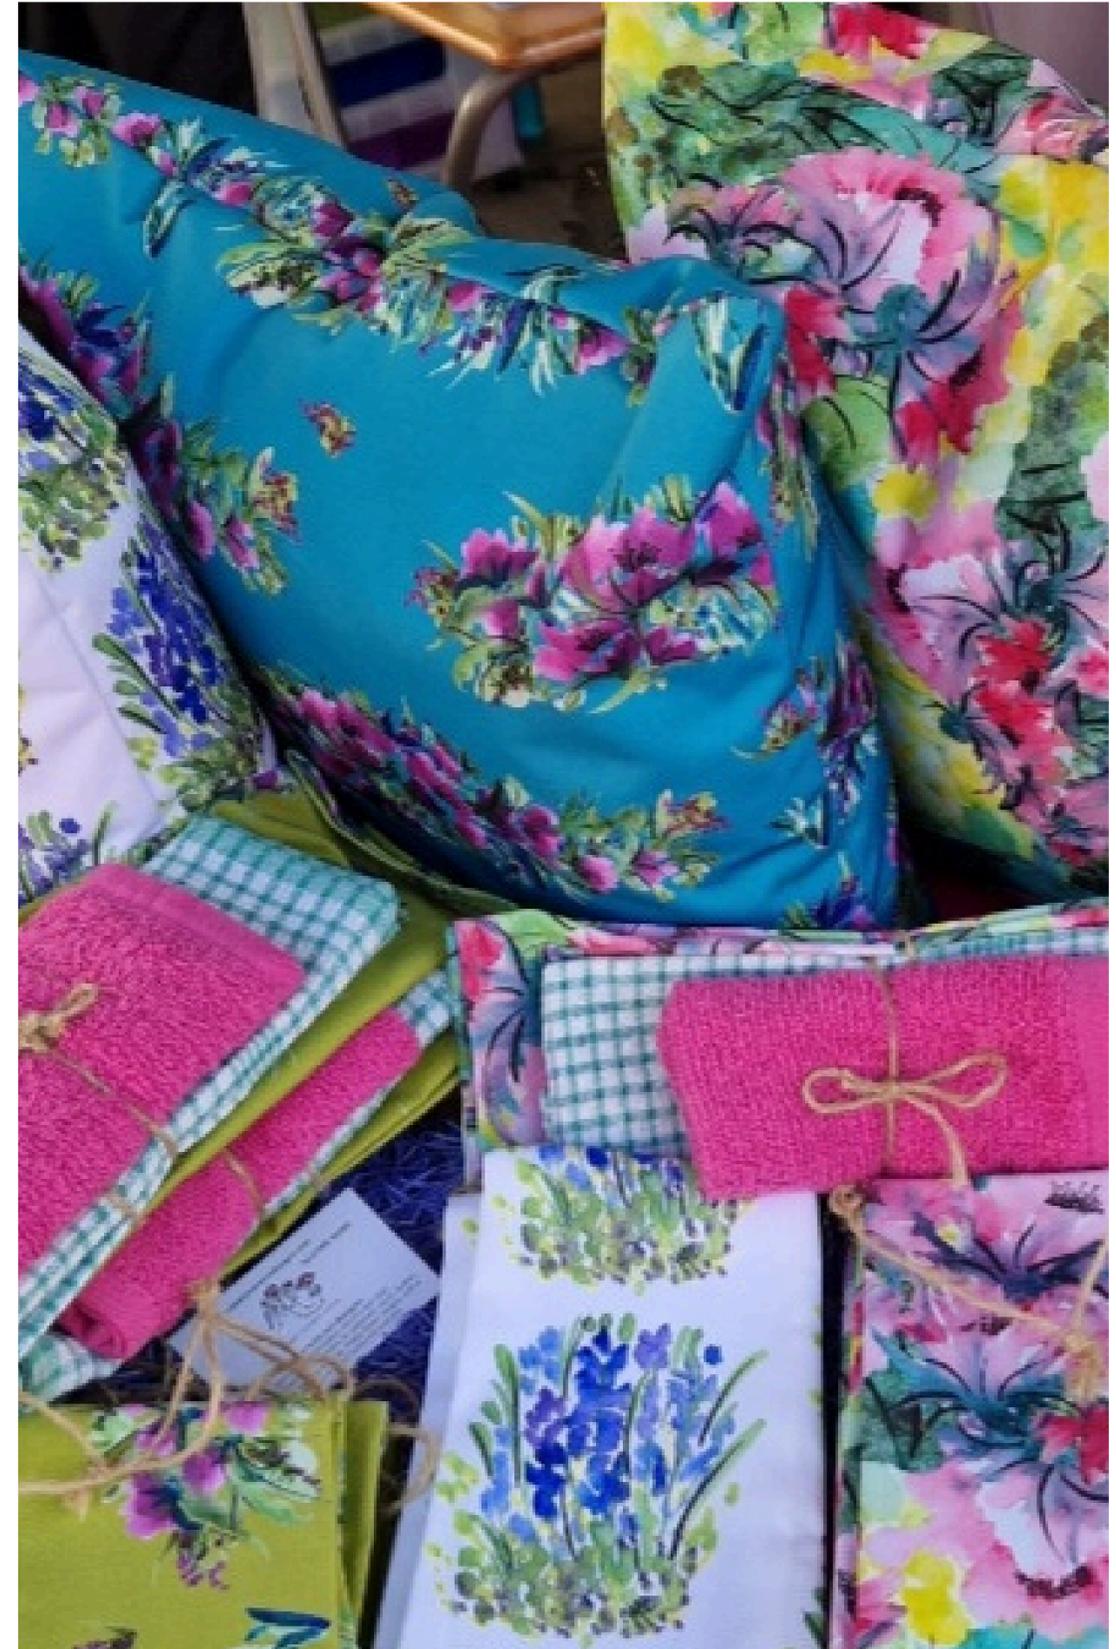

Mood boarding

Nature plays a significant role in my artwork. I draw inspiration primarily from gardens, captivated by the intricate layers of flowers, plants, and trees intertwined with dynamic cloud formations. The ever-changing seasonal colours serve as a palette, influencing and enhancing my choice of hues. Recognizing the profound impact of color on emotions, I strive to infuse my art with a rich and evocative spectrum.

The impact of my floral and fairy artwork lies in the meticulous process of transforming conceptual ideas into viable designs. Through the medium of painting, I intricately craft the foundation that evolves into a versatile array of product ranges. This methodical approach ensures the seamless translation of creativity into tangible and refined artistic expressions across diverse products.
