

UNKOS

Partnerships start with conversations. Simple connections that can bring us out into richer, more fulfilling spaces.

This book is designed to establish such a dialogue. It will help you to understand the Uskees brand, to define our fundamentals and consider a solid and shared creative foundation for how we might work together as wholesale partners.

This is by no means a manual, nor is it a prescription for how things have to be. It is a handshake, an open door. It is a hello.

A closer look at our creative materials

We work with premium, responsibly sourced fabrics that are 100% organic and GOTS certified wherever possible. We are transparent about the composition of our garments. Man-made materials are kept to a minimum; if we use them at all it is to enhance the cohesion and lifespan of a piece, never to cut a corner or cost.

Uskees Core is stocked and worn in museums, galleries and restaurants throughout the UK and overseas.

We work with local spaces, contemporary art hubs and major cultural institutions alike. They'll select and curate pieces for their shops. They'll wear us front of house. They'll collaborate on bespoke garments tailored to match the look, feel and colour palettes of key exhibitions and calendar moments.

FOR DESIGN LIFE

Our 100% organic cotton overshirts and blazers are descended from 20th Century workwear — when garments were used as tools for making and creating — and they remain popular with artists, artisans and people from the design-lifestyle space.

This appeal is the cornerstone of our work with galleries and museums, where consumers are motivated by function, longevity and ethics as well as fluidity of style. Our range of considered accessories complement these same tastes, capping off a smart-casual look.

Unions Blazer

This blazer edition of our 3001 overshirt is inspired by trade union men of the factories, docks and railyards. Spirited nonconformists who dressed smart and thought fast to protect workers rights.

Available in rich colours and rugged fabrics, the 3006 is a bohemian jacket that fits both formal and casual looks, and represents the other half of our suit offering.
