Best use of mobile learning

The judging panel will score submissions according to how well they fulfil the specific bullet points outlined below .

Please use these bullet points as headings for each section to explain as clearly and concisely as you can how your submission meets the criteria. This does not preclude you from including other sections, however, you should consider the word count if you do.

There is a maximum word limit of 2000 words. Submissions exceeding this limit will not be judged.

Your entry may be disadvantaged if the judging panel is unable to see your submission in action. You also need to be prepared to provide evidence for claims you make about impact and effectiveness.

- There was a clear rationale for the use of mobile devices to meet the requirement.
- The design takes account of the particular characteristics of the devices in question and the environments in which they would be used.
- The use of mobile devices for learning or performance support has helped in reaching new audiences and/or achieving learning more efficiently.
- The reaction of learners and other stakeholders to the learning has been positive.
- The use of mobile learning has been effective in meeting individual and organisational needs.
