Three Wibit Peakz, countless challenges

Wibit Peakz challenges you to get from peak to peak by crossing a variety of bridges connected at three different heights: one, two or three meters above the surface. The modular design allows the park to be configured in an infinite array of combinations for ultimate flexibility.

Courses with different levels of difficulty will be created and can be changed at any time. New combinations and additions are extremely easy to implement thanks to the four connection points that each summit has to offer. Let's create the most optimal course for your location!
