

Registration rates and eligibility

Registration rates are based on your individual role and responsibilities, rather than the institution you work for.

At a glance

Investor and Issuer Rate	The Investor and Issuer Rate is reserved for individuals directly involved in investing in SRT/CRT transactions or providing credit protection or in managing or transferring credit risk solely for their own institution.
Standard Rate	The Standard Rate applies to those providing SRT-related services to clients or third parties, including relevant teams within banks.

Standard Rate

For those providing SRT-related services to clients or third-party institutions, including relevant teams within banks, law firms, consultants, technology providers and other service providers.

Typical bank functions include: structuring, origination, syndicate, distribution, credit sales, capital markets solutions and structured credit trading.

Investor and Issuer Rate

This discounted rate is available to individuals who meet either of the following criteria:

Investors: Those directly responsible for investing in SRT/CRT transactions, allocating institutional capital or providing funded or unfunded credit protection.

Typical functions include: investment management, portfolio management, credit investment, investment analysis and insurance/reinsurance underwriting.

Issuers: Those at banks and lending institutions directly responsible for their own institution's SRT, credit risk, capital or balance sheet strategy, whose SRT-related activities are exclusively focused on their own institution's transactions and balance sheet.

Typical functions include: treasury, capital management, balance sheet management, credit portfolio management and risk.
