IF YOU WANT EASY ACCESS TO YOUR MEETING VENUE OR TO BE AT THE HEART OF THE ACTION, THIS GUIDE TO DUBAI'S DISTRICTS CAN HELP YOU PLAN YOUR TRIP

OLD METHA

Geography: On the other side of the Creek from Garhoud – so still convenient for the airport.

The lowdown: If you happen to be in the business of health then this is the place to be. It's where Dubai's medical corporations are based in Dubai Healthcare City – served by its own station of the same name on the Green Line of the Dubai Metro. Offers a good selection of dining and retail outlets in the Wafi Mall.

DOWNTOWN

Geography: The area surrounding The Dubai Mall, merging into Business Bay.

The lowdown: It's just three or four stops on the Metro to the World Trade Centre, yet you'll be at the heart of what's dubbed 'The Centre of Now' with The Dubai Mall and Dubai Opera on your doorstep. The hotels in Business Bay cater nicely for business travellers too.

GARHOUD

Geography: Conveniently close to Dubai International Airport for those making a flying visit.

The lowdown: A good selection of airport hotels, offering convenient meeting spaces. The Park Hyatt is a prime spot for mixing business and pleasure. Golfers will appreciate the iconic Dubai Creek Golf Course, while the sprawling Dubai Festival City complex is also close by. Well served by hotels of all standards and served by the Red Line on the Dubai Metro.

OLD DUBAI

Geography: The area either side of Dubai's historic Creek, incorporating bustling Deira and Bur Dubai.

The lowdown: As the older part of town, you're well placed to discover the history of the city and the 'off-the-beaten track' attractions. This is where you'll find many of the Dubai government offices and international embassies. Well served by hotels, Old Dubai particularly presents a good selection of four and three-star hotels and guest houses. Served by the Green Line on the Dubai Metro.

JUMEIRAH AND UMM SUQEIM

Geography: spanning from the iconic Burj al Arab all the way north along the coastal Jumeirah Beach Road towards Jumeirah Mosque.

The lowdown: Ideal if after your business day you want to return to resort-like accommodation. Here you'll find swathes of private and public beach; the Madinat Souk and the iconic Burj Al Arab. Closest Metro stops lie along the Sheikh Zayed Road, so you'll be more reliant on taxis and car transfers.

PALM JUMEIRAH

Geography: needs little introduction. The archipelago in the shape of a palm tree jutting out into the Arabian Gulf from Al Sufouh near Dubai Media City.

The lowdown: Home to primarily five-star resorts – with a wow factor of a location. If pleasure takes priority over business then you may want to opt for this postcode. While the trunk of the Palm is served by a monorail, you'll most likely be reliant on taxis and chauffeurs if your meetings are outside your chosen resort.

AL BARSHA

Geography: Close to Sheikh Zayed Road, about 15 minutes drive from the financial district but well served by the Dubai Metro.

The lowdown: The jewel here is the Mall of the Emirates with its indoor ski slope. Good-value accommodation makes this a popular choice for business travellers. The Metro's Red line runs through here.

NEW DUBAI AND DUBAI SOUTH

Geography: incorporating the bustling Dubai Marina, Jumeirah Beach Residences and further south towards Dubai's second airport, Dubai World Central (DWC).

The lowdown: Perfect for meetings in Dubai Media City, Dubai Internet City and Dubai Knowledge Village (all linked by the Dubai Tram line) or if you have business with the emerging corporations further south, such as Dubai Parks & Resorts and those surrounding the Expo 2020 site and DWC.

FOCUS ON THE STRIP OF DUBAI'S ARTERIAL SHEIKH ZAYED ROAD THAT LIES BETWEEN THE DUBAI INTERNATIONAL FINANCIAL CENTRE AND THE DUBAI WORLD TRADE CENTRE, AND YOU'LL BE AT THE CITY'S BEATING HEART OF BUSINESS

DUBAI INTERNATIONAL FINANCIAL CENTRE (DIFC)

Geography: On the eastern side of the Sheikh Zayed Road served by the Red Line of the Dubai Metro at the Emirates Towers station. The road can easily be crossed using the station's pedestrian bridge.

The lowdown: Home to more than 1,500 registered companies, the DIFC is the region's hub for corporate financial business. Serving the corporate multi-national community from early morning to late at night – this is a destination in its own right, offering over 60 restaurants and cafes (including Zuma and La Petite Maison, both listed among “the world's best restaurants”), a plethora of bespoke boutiques and art galleries and, come evening when the jackets are discarded, a host of lounges ideal for post work socialising. For those who are members, the DIFC is also home to the Capital Club – named by CNN as “one of the 10 top exclusive business clubs in the world”. Hotels within the DIFC complex include the intimate Four Seasons and The Ritz-Carlton. However, there are a string of four and five-star properties nearby along the Sheikh Zayed Road.

DUBAI WORLD TRADE CENTRE (DWTC)

Geography: Just one stop north on the Dubai Metro's Red Line from the Dubai International Financial Centre – before going on to directly serve Dubai International Airport further down the line.

The lowdown: If you've been invited to a convention or exhibition, chances are it will be hosted in the Dubai International Convention and Exhibition Centre sitting at the heart of the Dubai World Trade Centre (DWTC). It's the meeting place for more than 2.74 million visitors from 160 global markets every year. A number of on-site restaurants and cafes sustain you between meetings, while a selection of on-site hotels include Novotel World Trade Centre, Ibis World Trade Centre, and Ibis One Central.

BUSINESS DINNERS HAVE NEVER BEEN MORE APPETISING WHEN GIVEN A DUBAI SPIN

CELEBRITY APPEAL

Dubai is no stranger to celebrities, and the restaurant scene here is no exception. Yet while the diners may be A-listers, we're also finding them taking centre stage in the kitchens. In fact, Dubai's list of chefs is fast becoming a Who's Who of the culinary world. Gordon Ramsay, Gary Rhodes and Sanjeev Kapoor have all taken time out of their TV presenting to delve into Dubai; while star-studded chefs Nobu Matsuhisa, Jason Atherton, Jean-Georges Vongerichten, Atul Kochhar, Richard Sandoval and Nathan Outlaw are just a few other names for starters.

VIEW TO A THRILL

Set the scene and wow your guests with spectacular views. Whether it be in the shadow of the Burj Khalifa at restaurants around Burj Lake, such as Argentinian steak house Asado or Thai favourite Thiptara both in The Palace hotel, Downtown; or overlooking the iconic Burj Al Arab from Jumeirah al Naseem's beachside seafood restaurant, Rockfish. And with much of the action taking place on the rooftops of many a hotel, head to the lounges on the top floor for breath-taking views. The Four Seasons' Mercury Lounge with the Arabian Gulf on one side and the city views on the other is sure to beguile.

HOME COOKING

To really get to know a destination is to eat its local food. Emirati cuisine is full of flavour, taking inspiration from across the region. Paying homage to the seven emirates, head to Seven Sands – with branches in the Falcon Lounge of the World Trade Centre, JBR and in the Etihad Museum in Jumeirah. You won't get more authentic than this.

PRIVATE DINING

If you want to focus on the business at hand undisturbed by fellow diners, then put your order in for a private dining room. Among the many on the menu is the private room for parties of just 12 people at the acclaimed Play Restaurant and Lounge at the H Hotel. Its Experience package sees founder chef Reif Othman personally cook for and serve in an interactive, highly personal dinner. It's like your own private party.
