About Resapol

Resapol is the leading national independent distributor of construction chemicals in the UK, we specialise in stocking and supplying a huge range of quality construction chemicals. Product ranges stocked are well known, specified products that have a reputable track record.

All depot staff have excellent technical knowledge and practical experience of the full range of products. Staff regularly take part in training days, learning both the theory and practical application of a wide range of new and established products hosted by manufacturers at the Resapol Training Academy. Technical support is offered at all levels, including specification writing and method statements if required.

Our depots work closely together controlling and sharing stocks to ensure sites nationally can be serviced with ease and speed. Communication between depots enables swift recognition of the individual customer needs and requirements. We take pride in our delivery service and realise how important it is to deliver goods on time. We often supply contracts, which involve rail possessions, motorway lane rentals, factory shutdowns and understand how critical it is for goods to be delivered on time, every time, anywhere in the UK!

Resapol holds ISO 14001:2015, ISO 9001:2015 and OHSAS 18001:2007 accreditations from LRQA. We are members of the Concrete Repair Association, Sprayed Concrete Association and The Structural Concrete Alliance with whom we share knowledge, training and expertise.

All these factors are what make Resapol the national experts in construction chemicals.

Concrete Repair/Protection

Resapol understands that despite the many benefits that concrete offers the construction industry it does have some inherent problems which can cause issues over the lifetime of a structure.

Whether concrete has suffered due to environmental factors, poor design, impact damage, chemical attack or poor initial application, we have a range of solutions to tackle the problem and extend the structural lifespan.

Defects ranging from honeycombing and movement cracks to mechanical or shutter removal damage all create different concrete repair requirements. We supply a range of products from all the leading manufacturers and our impartial sales staff have the technical knowledge to recommend the right product to suit your needs.

We also offer a comprehensive range of concrete protection products to ensure increased lifespan and aesthetic benefits. From weather-proofing to vandal proofing we have the coating for you.

As members of the Concrete Repair Association, Structural Concrete Alliance and Spray Concrete association we are at the forefront of the latest industry developments, sharing knowledge and training with the sectors leading manufacturers and users. This combined with being the UKs leading independent supplier means we offer unrivalled impartial technical knowledge.

From free flow and hand applied repairs to anti-graffiti coatings we've got concrete covered.

Grouts & Anchors

At Resapol we know that stability is the key to structural integrity. We offer a comprehensive range of grout and anchor solutions whether for application in Industrial, Civil, Commercial or Residential settings.

Our expertise can help you select the correct product from our wide range, based on your stability, flowability, application, and strength needs.

With applications where dynamic loads are present such rail bedding or where loads are consistent such in precast construction there are many factors that influence product selection. Do you need high temperature tolerance, high creep resistance or even underwater application? With our close working relationship with all the leading manufacturers we have the solution for you.

Waterproofing

At Resapol we offer a wide range of Waterproofing products, individually aimed to aid you in keeping structures safe from water damage. Our technical sales advisors are specifically trained on a multitude of different materials. They possess strong technical understanding and awareness in order to specify the right material for your specific project, working to ensure no costly errors are encountered.

Resapol offers a wide range of systems for both retaining water and keeping water out. Market leading waterproofing membranes, liquid membranes, hydrophilic waterstops, admixtures and sheet drainage systems are stocked across the country, with the most popular materials available for both same and next day delivery.

Depending on whether your project requires a complex sealing system, or a simple waterstop, Resapol helps to put water in its place.

Joint Sealants & Adhesives

At Resapol we supply a comprehensive range of joint sealants from all the leading manufacturers. If you're sealing movement joints, expansion joints, construction joints, connection joints or isolation joints our technical sales team can offer the right product for you.

We stock polysulphide, epoxy, polyurethane and bitumen based sealants, including sealants that come with fire ratings or that can be used in potable water structures. We also supply adhesive sealant solutions for a range of applications. Our technical sales staff can assist you with the right selection of sealant adhesive and we have technical data of all our products available on the website.
