

The UK's premier property & carbon thought leadership event comes to London: one month until FOOTPRINT+ 2025

With just one month to go, the countdown is on for FOOTPRINT+ 2025, the UK's leading conference for decarbonising the built environment.

Taking place on 14–15 May at the iconic Old Billingsgate in the heart of London, FOOTPRINT+ will bring together thousands of professionals across the property, construction, design, and sustainability sectors.

Now in its fourth year, this edition will be bolder than ever—with over 260 expert speakers, 50 forward-thinking exhibitors, and more than 2,000 delegates.

What to Expect:

- Six Stages of Cutting-Edge Content: Two packed days of panels, keynotes, and case studies featuring some of the most influential voices in real estate, urban planning, engineering, and climate policy. Keynotes include Nicolas Perin, Head of Decarbonisation, Commerical Buildings, DESNZ, Melissa Lockett, L&G Capital and Geoff Barraclough, Westminster City Council.
- Innovative Exhibition: Discover the latest materials, technologies, and services that are redefining the built environment for a zero-carbon future from leaders including One Click LCA, Butterfly Air, General Demolition, Madaster, Ibstock and more.
- Meaningful Connections: Network with developers, investors, local authorities, and sustainability pioneers to build the relationships that drive action
- Unmissable London Location: Set against the backdrop of the Thames at Old Billingsgate, the venue reflects the spirit of transformation at the core of the event.

“This year’s event is about action,” says FOOTPRINT+ co-founder, Tim Pyne. “Forget stuffy lectures, we’re about real connections and actual implementation. As always, we engage with the Zeitgeist in the show design, and this year it’s a gallery called The Art of Reuse, with an interactive installation by sponsors Material Reuse Group. FOOTPRINT+ is where the entire property sector meets to make things happen.”

With just a few weeks to go, registration is filling fast. Secure your place at <https://www.footprintplus.com> and be part of the movement shaping the future of the built environment.
