

High performance

While the robust construction and fast throughput help to make the OP900ii a favourite of professional photographers, it is the exceptional quality that delivers a consistent luxury finish that secure its status as one of the best photo printers on the market today.

Outstanding colour

The OP900ii has been independently tested by colour consultants, who found that there are four key reasons why the OP900ii is the best printer on the market for both colour and B&W printing.
