HOW IMN HELPS YOU SUCCEED

Having conducted business with many of the world's largest companies, governments and militaries across four continents, IMN's founders understood that every successful professional, organisation and nation always needed the same critical asset; high fidelity, precise and relevant external intelligence. Using military OSINT principles, they therefore created IMN, perhaps now the world's most capable 360° business intelligence tool.

You could be a CEO, investor, diplomat, team manager, intern, researcher, public figure, government policy maker, public servant, or even a national security analyst. Whatever your role or sector, IMN adapts to you so deeply, it's as if it reads your mind.

IMN tells you what you must know to perform; the latest sector developments, trends and advancements you may have missed. News, geopolitics and regulations that impact you. What your competitors are doing. New tech, product, growth or market opportunities you may never have considered. You can even train IMN to find you new sales leads, target acquisitions, predict the future of your sector in 1, 3 or 10 years, or automate monitoring of your entire group of companies or investment portfolio(s).

IMN's personalised intelligence is also supplemented with guidance on what to do with each insight, to help you make better and faster decisions. It's like having your own research team + elite consultant + wise mentor combined, on autopilot.
