

ready for your best day at work ever?

Modern working life can be tough. Stress and anxiety can stop a great workforce in it's tracks. So what do we suggest? Puppies!

Paws in Work are here to improve mental health in the workplace. It's scientifically proven that interaction with animals is good for our health, so what if a litter of beautiful puppies came to play? Our sessions of puppy therapy will leave your staff refreshed and energised, showing how easy it can be to discuss mental health.

our mission is simple:

“to create a better life for people and pups”

We are the UK's first fully licenced Puppy Therapy specialists.

We bring a litter of gorgeous puppies to your office, create a dedicated puppy-safe environment for them, and then welcome staff members to come and stock up on cuddles and belly rubs.

employee wellbeing

We want to improve mental health in the workplace, by giving staff the headspace to play, laugh and relax with some new best friends. We want to combat some of the stresses and isolation work life can have.

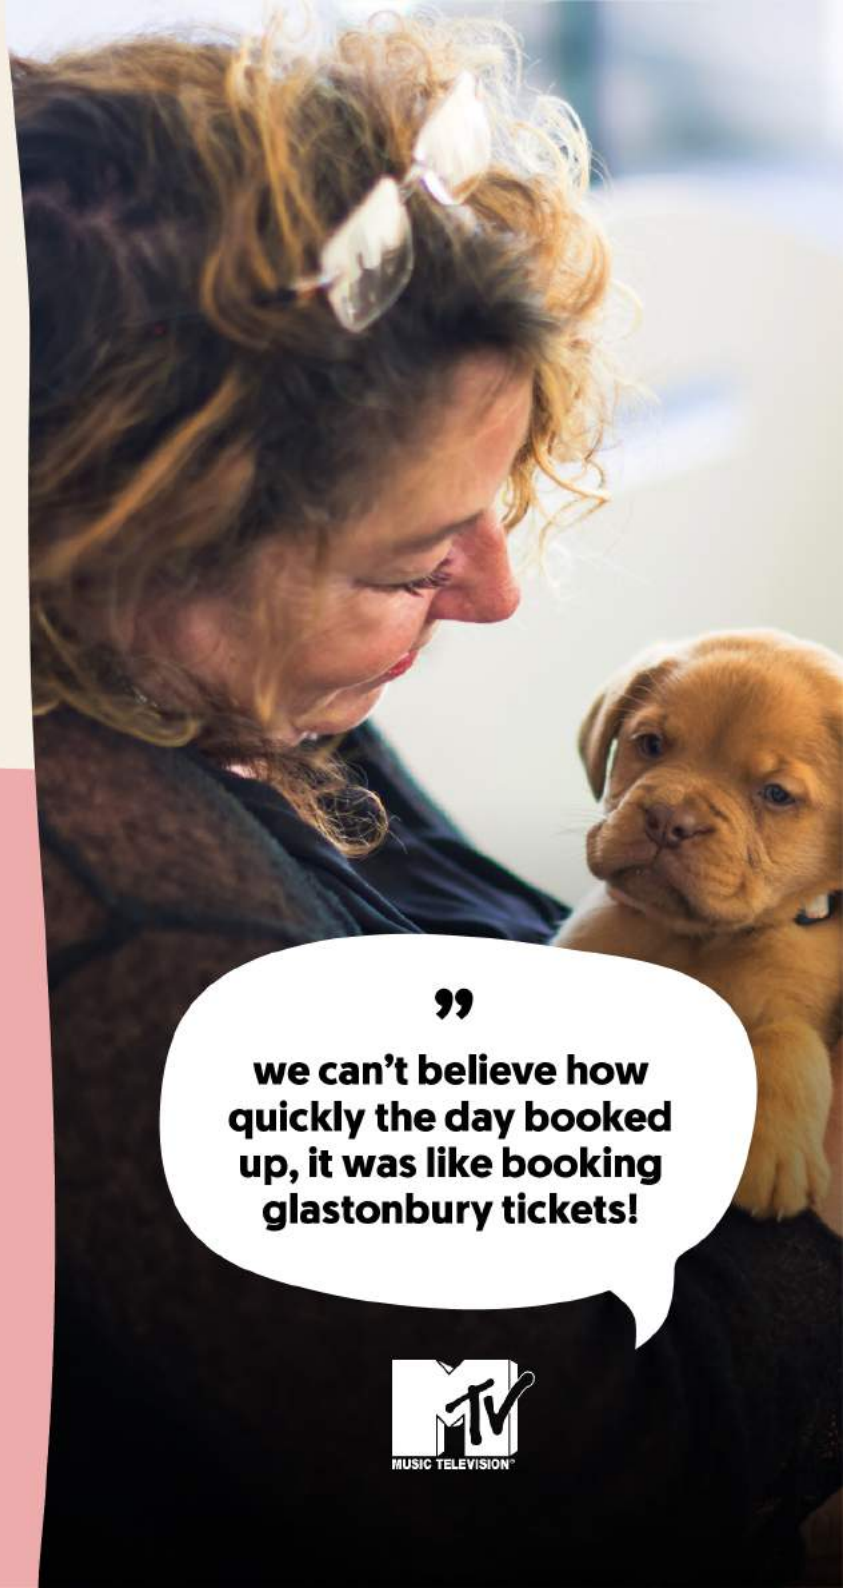

puppy socialisation

We want to aid in the socialisation of puppies by giving them the best start in life and that's where you come in. Our puppies get the chance to meet new friends and have fun while developing their social skills.

ethical breeders

We want to raise important awareness of the ethical breeding of dogs by sharing our knowledge and advice. By sharing what you'll soon know, we can all help to put a stop to unethical breeding and puppy farms.

the facts around poor mental health at work.

million

workdays are lost each year due to mental health problems in the uk

This costs employers around £2.4 billion per year. In 2017 it was estimated that work absence cost the economy £18 billion in lost productivity. This is set to rise to £26 billion by 2030.

of employees feel they don't have enough interaction with their colleagues

Only 1/3 of staff receive support to manage workplace stress. This feeling of social isolation can have a major impact not only on staff productivity but also on mental health and general wellbeing.

 60%

of staff experience poor mental health due to work

1 in 5 staff admitted to calling in sick to avoid work related stress, with 42% even considering resigning altogether.

how we can help.

Our sessions not only promote positive staff interaction but can also lower blood pressure as well as decreasing levels of the stress-related hormone, cortisol. We've seen it all; tears, laughter and a lot of dog selfies! We bring staff together from CEO to Intern, heightening social interaction at all levels of the business.

Oh, and lots of puppies!
