

Division of Occupational Psychology

OCCUPATIONAL PSYCHOLOGY

the science of people at work

Search: www.bps.org.uk/occupational

Connect with us on LinkedIn: bps-dop

the british psychological society
promoting excellence in psychology

DIVISION OF OCCUPATIONAL PSYCHOLOGY (DOP)

Want to connect with independent practitioners and thousands of occupational psychologists?

The BPS Division of Occupational Psychology (DOP) has been linking practitioners, researchers, and students since 1919, promoting the profession and advancing psychology as a field of knowledge and skills.

There are various types of membership available. Whether you work in independent practice, academia, the public sector, private sector, or you're simply interested in the field, you can find an option that suits you.

For any questions, email DOP.mns@bps.org.uk

Division of
Occupational Psychology

Find out more at BPS.ORG.UK/DOP

- Newsletter: Get updates on developments and opportunities.
- Awards: Recognising excellence with five annual awards.
- CPD events: In-person and online events, with member discounts.
- Annual conference: Major event of the year, with member ticket discounts.
- Publication: Occupational Psychology Outlook (OPO), our peer-reviewed journal.
- Group involvement: Bridging academics and practitioners to advance the field.
- Networking: Connect with other professionals in occupational psychology.

To join the DOP, you will have to become a member of the BPS. Don't worry, you can join both at the same time. Visit bps.org.uk/join to start your application.